Prison Skit Presented Oct. 18

Lee Baron, Director of Public Relations from the Indiana State Prison, escorted six men convicted of various crimes to Lew Wallace on October 18 to give one of the most enlightening performances held on the stage of this school in many years.

Warden Lane of the prison instituted this skit which consists of three wooden frame cells behind which the six men stand. The group discusses the mistakes the men have made from earlier years to their present situation of long prison terms.

Lane instituted the skit in the hope that the appeals of the inmates would turn young people from the possible life of crime to that of a productive, useful citizen.

Prison Skit, presented second and third periods on Monday, featured 21 year old Gary Stull who has been in prison since age 16, serving a life sentence for murder. Also present were Steve Waljack and James Smith, in for life sentence for murder. Bernard Harrison is serving two consecutive 25 year sentences for burglary, and Coy Griffiths a 35 year term for armed robbery. Gordon Johnson who is blind, is serving 25 years for armed robbery.

The six inmates of the State Prison did not address the audience. Prison Skit consists of the six men carrying on a conversation among themselves. They tell each other what their first mistake was and try to convince one another and the audience that they could have gone straight if they had desired.

Perhaps the most impressive thought of the day was one voiced by a convict. He stated that he could once smell human flesh burn as he was confined to Death Row.

The row consists of cells facing a long hall leading to the open electric chair. Death Row is said to be the most terrifying section of the prison.

Teachers Attend Conference

For the next two days Lew Wallace teachers will be attending professional meetings locally and in Hammond. Hammond meetings are under the auspices of the Indiana State Teachers Association, and the Gary meetings are sponsored by Local No. 4 of the American Federation of Teachers.

Keynote speaker at the ISTA meeting in the Civic Auditorium in Hammond will be Dr. John Furbay, director of Education for Trans World Airlines. General Session speaker for the AFT meeting at Memorial Auditorium in Gary will be Dr. Isadore Starr, past president of the National Council for Teachers of Social Studies and presently professor in Queens College, Flushing, New York.

ISTA Conference will be broken down into two main groups: Junior-Senior High School Department and the Elementary Department. These two main groups will also be broken down into smaller groups such as Art, English-Speech, Business Education, Audio-Visual and Librarians, Foreign languages, Guidance, Home Economics, Industrial Education, Mathematics, Music, Physical Education, Science, and Social Studies.

On Thursday, members of the local AFT will have choices of attending sessions in 20 sectional meetings. This wide variety of sectional meetings will provide something of interest for every teacher both elementary and secondary.

Three large group meetings are planned for Friday morning. Dr. Robert Havighurst, of the University of Chicago and the University of Missouri, will speak to secondary teachers in Roosevelt Auditorium on problems of urban education. Dr. Arthur Heilman, of Pennsylvania State University, will speak to elementary in Horace Mann Auditorium on the principles of a good reading program.

Chicago Trib. Offers Course In Journalism

Two Wallace seniors attended the seventh annual seminar for high school journalists on Saturday, October 16. Marlene Bowman, news editor, (Brooke) Stevens, editor-in-chief, attended discussions on reporting, copy-reading and page make-up.

Each girl chose two elective classes. Marlene chose feature writing, photography and pictures, while Brooke chose editorial writing and production and printing.

High school journalists from the Mid-west took part in the program conducted at McCormick Place. To keep discussion groups small enough for an exchange of ideas by the editors, classes were limited to the editor and news editor of each school.

Voice of Youth

The Chicago Tribune's interest is not only in editors, however. The Tribune is continuing the Voice of Youth column this Sunday. This feature started in 1957 and gives students an opportunity to find expression through the printed word.

The subject matter is not restricted, but poetry is not considered. Students may write from 100 to 300 words, depending on the theme chosen. Each manuscript is required to be signed by a faculty member. The student should sign a statement saying that he is the author and give the name of his parents, home address, phone number, and his grade level.

The Homecoming court, Linda Preste, Rita Banks, Laurel Gersack and Cindy Brock, surround Queen Sue Plinovich, who was crowned during halftime ceremonies.

What Would It Take?

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE to generate real adult concern for the teenager's after school activities? It is possible that "thrill-seeking" teens are trying to fill a void that parental supervision doesn't seem to provide?

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE to lower the teenage juvenile delinquency rate? Would adolescents have to cause trouble for lack of better pastimes if recreational facilities were made more readily available to these local teens?

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE to provide some sort of realistic recreational program for Gary's young people? School functions may be enough to satisfy the teen who is a member of several clubs and other extra-curricular school activities, but what of those who are not involved in school-sponsored programs?

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE to instill a feeling of concern of the matter in the youth of the area? If the young adults somehow voiced their opinion on the subject, could this sway the public in anyway so as to include the youth of Glen Park in their civic improvement programs. . . .

WHAT WOULD IT TAKE to make teenagers proud of this community?

'Irish' Teacher Cycles To and From School

by Sue Eng

"You do not always meet the nicest people on a Honda—or for that matter on any other kind of motorcycle!" remarked Mr. Richard O'Curran during an interview with this reporter.

Long an ardent motorcycle enthusiast, the Lew Wallace English-Journalism teacher started riding cycles when he was 16. Although he has never raced professionally, he has run in sportsmen events. A younger brother, Bill, was for many years prominent in TT and flat track racing in California.

"Since the Marlon Brando cycling debacle in 'The Wild Ones', people have had their suspicions confirmed that motorcyclists belong to the lunatic fringe," he stated. He added that exhibitionism (showing-off) was the greatest problem with youthful enthusiasts. "Of course there are just as many immature youngsters making lethal weapons out of automobiles with much more disastrous consequences."

He went on to say that he regularly rides with another teacher, a civil engineer who has a PhD., a lawyer, and a newspaperman. "So you see this is not a sport confined to black-jacketed hoods trying to prove that they do not belong in the human race. As a matter of fact, many youngsters who ride bikes are doing an excellent job at improving their own image. It is only the 1% of the total that work so hard to ruin the sport for those who are the real enthusiasts," he concluded.

When asked why he rode motorcycles, he replied with a wide smile, "I think it is exhilarating—it is a sensation that only the two-wheeled sportsman could possibly appreciate. It is both dangerous and challenging . . . you are never quite the master of the machine. To me it is poetry in motion! To compare motorcycles to auto driving is sheer folly . . . it takes infinitely more skill to ride a motorcycle."

Whatever this reporter failed to learn about motorcycles as a sport was more than compensated for in Mr. O'Curran's abundant enthusiasm for those "noisy two-wheeled monsters" as my mother calls them!

Reader's Review

Fascinating and exciting are the only words that can be used to describe the heartwarming novel, Gone With the Wind, by Margaret Mitchell. This is the story of a wealthy family, and takes place on their charming Georgia plantation, Tara.

This is love story, but not just love of different people but of a house, a land and a country.

Pre-Civil War, Civil War and the Reconstruction period set the atmosphere of the tale. It is a story of a family, the O'Hara's, and how they faced the problems that confronted them during this trying period of history.

Scarlett O'Hara, a petite, rosy-cheeked beauty, is the heroine of the novel. The narration continues with the three marriages of Scarlett and her love for Ashley Wilkes. She first marries Charles Hamilton the day before he leaves to fight for the Confederate side of the war. After he dies, Scarlett marries Frank Kennedy, her sister's fiancé, to keep her beloved plantation, Tara, which is being threatened by the Carpetbaggers now in control of the South. Frank was killed in a Ku Klux Klan raid. At last she marries Rhett Butler, an unscrupulous profiteer.

Her one love all along, though, had been for Ashley Wilkes. This love expires as she sees how weak willed and impractical he really is. She realizes that she loves Rhett and not Ashley too late; Rhett has decided to leave her forever.

Gone With the Wind certainly ranks Margaret Mitchell as one of finest authors of all times.

Annals on Market Through October

1965-66 Quill and Blade subscriptions are now on sale during both lunch hours. They will continue to be sold through the month of October for $6.50. However, if bought during November the price will be raised to $7.50.

You may purchase your annual subscription from most of the members of Mr. O'Curran's Journalism I classes.

Students will be accepting subscriptions in the cafeteria, main gym, and auditorium.

In addition to receiving the Quill and Blade at the end of the year, the Philosopher will also be given out to all those paying the initial subscription price.

Corky Milich and Ken Ortosky have a casual talk after school.

Philosopher Chooses Two Seniors In Sports

Zagorka Milich, one of the outstanding Lew Wallace seniors, is president of the Lew Wallace GAA. Corky, 5 foot 4 and brown haired, worked her way to the presidency through participation as a member and as a council member in the GAA. In addition, Corky has also been active in the French Club, FTA, and Junior Prom committee.

During her spare time, Corky enjoys listening to the radio and reading such books as "Gone With the Wind" and the James Bond thrillers. Although The Supremes are her favorite recording stars, the song which she has decided upon as her favorite is "You Were on My Mind", by the We Five.

Corky's plans for the future include a college education. Presently, her goal is to obtain a major in Russian at Indiana University.

Six foot, 215 pound right tackle—that's Lew Wallace senior

Ken Ortosky. Ken has been playing football throughout high school and has earned his major letter. Ken may also claim membership in the Club W, Student Council, and the CYO. He has also held the positions of Freshman Class President, Boys' Club social chairman, and co-chairman of the Junior Prom.

Playing billiards and hunting rabbit are among Ken's additional activities. Peter, Paul, and Mary albums rate high with Ken, and he has spent many hours enjoying their music. Ken's reading material includes several of the Ian Fleming hits, his favorite being "You Only Live Twice".

The interest which Ken has shown in history leads to his choice of a career. He presently plans to work toward a law degree, perhaps attending Notre Dame in doing so. Ken later desires to establish his own law practice after he has received his degree in law.

Girls Club To Give Turnabout

Attention girls! Get ready for the Girls' Club Annual Turnabout, to be held on Friday, November 12, 1965, from 8:00 to 11:00 P.M. in the main gym. Couples at "November Sunset" will dance to music provided by the Blue Tones.

Having a fall turnabout is a new idea, for this event has always been held in the spring. Due to the problem of the junior and the senior proms held at approximately the same time, the Girls' Club Council decided to move the dance an earlier date.

Wool or knit dresses, sheaths, or suits will be the proper wearing apparel at this event. Girls' Club asks all girls not to wear semiformal, for this is definitely an informal dance. Boys are asked to wear suits.

The autumn colors, gold, brown, and orange, will be repeated throughout the decorations. Mary Markowicz and Sally Messina will head the decorations committee with the help of Niki Cramvis, Charlene Dembowski, Debbie Martin, Della Banks, Margie Gersack, Betty Barnett, and Susan Jelusich.

Also, helping with decorations will be Elaine Traicoff, Janice Adank, Niki Gordon, Linda Northcutt, Joanna Rinkovsky, Carolyn Mallars, Pam Buzuvis, Barb Razus, Marlene Bowman, Linda Valenti, Lois Marquardt, Phyllis Peele, and Bernadette Brier.

Sira Weaver will be in charge of programs and will be assisted by Linda Watkins, Barbara Herschman, Jo Anne Henderson, Sandy Broadstone, Cheryl Stegnach, and Martha Anderson.

Pictures will be arranged by Diane Troxel, chairman, and Agnes Cohan. Sally Shirk and Karen Lesniak are in charge of the cloakroom.

Marti Myers and Sheri Beaumont are in charge of securing chaperones. The clean-up committee consists of Jo Anne Domsic, Cheryl Fielding, and Linda Metrovich. Refreshments will be provided by Judy Fienberg, chairman, who will be assisted by Debby Foler, Cathy Allman, Nancy Holak, and La Donna Wood.

'Get Off My Cloud' New No. 1 WGVE Hit

The WGVE Radio Station has gone out of their heads. Or, at least, they did last Thursday on the program presented by Marlene Swan, Dick Halstead and Ken Siekman. The Rolling Stone's album Out of Their Heads was featured on the High School Bulletin Board.

The Rolling Stone's hit song, Satisfaction, is on this up along with Hitchhike, Mercy, Mercy, One More Time and many others.

One of the top groups from our mother country, The Rolling Stones, are now flying high on the American charts with their newest recording Get Off My Cloud.

Another record to look out for is Liar, Liar sung by The Castaways. This record, as you can see, is already listed on the WGVE Record Survey of Hits. Along with these, any of you

Aud. Council Meets

Election of new officers was the main order of business at the first auditorium council meeting. Presiding for the '65-'66 school year are: Bitz Mack (4) president, Pam Kubiak (4) vice president, Oiane Siegle (3) head usher. Due to the retirement of Mrs. Hanna, Mrs. Busby has become the new sponsor.

Students wishing to become members must submit a letter stating why he would like to belong to auditorium council.

The main purpose of the council is ushering at various school events during the year.

Old Customs Make Halloween

Halloween is derived from an old custom and celebrated on October 31, eve of All Saints Day. Its importance was indicated by the renewal of laws, the rekindling of fire for coming years, and the practice of association with the dead, whose souls were supposed to revisit their homes on this day.

The early Britains chose Halloween to foretell marriages, luck, health, and deaths of the coming year. It was the only day of the year that the help of the devil was invoked for such purposes. By the end of the Middle Ages the celebration of Halloween Eve was part of the annual calendar of the Roman Catholic Church. After the Reformation, however, the Protestant religion rejected this act.

Immigrants to the United States, particularly the Irish, introduced peculiar Halloween customs that became popular in the late nineteenth century. Mischievous making on this occasion by boys and young men took such forms as overturning sheds and outhouses, breaking windows, and damage to private property which was sometimes severe. In later years, Halloween has come to be observed by small children, who are attired in strange looking costumes, demanding "trick or treat". The treat was usually given and the trick rarely played. The common symbol of Halloween, the Jack-O-Lantern, is a hollowed out pumpkin carved in the shape of the triangular face with a lightened candle inside. In Scotland a turnip was used for the Jack-O-Lantern, but the native pumpkin was substituted in the United States.

Although Halloween has lost its true meaning, the evening is of great significance to children because it is a night of gaiety and candy.

Boys Fashionable Too!

Senior Ron Hemminger wears a "mellow" outfit of white levis, madras shirt, and loafers, while attending classes.

Boy's fashion outlook for this fall can be summed up in two words — casual and comfortable! Wash and wear fabrics and sta-prest slacks, which require very little or no ironing, are found in almost any possible style and should be included in every active boy's wardrobe.

The most popular attire among boys is white levis, madras shirts, and loafers. Madras is very big in sport coats, belts, and hats.

Sweaters of many different styles and knits, including the new short-sleeved cardigan, compose a large part of the teenager's wardrobe. Colors this fall are matched or unmatched, depending upon individual tastes.

For dress-up occasion, vests are combined with suits for a very masculine effect. Herringbone tweed and corduroy are the latest most popular materials for suits.

Wingtip shoes, dark socks, button-down collars, and wide belts are making a big comeback, while white socks and tab collars are on their way out. Also on the "in" list are slim and tapered slacks, worn with or without cuffs; hats of all styles and shapes.

"flip-side" watchers may have noticed the tune, Trouble With a Buick Six.

The High School Bulletin Board broadcasts every Thursday with the top hits. So remember to hurry home Thursday and turn on your FM radio to WGVE, 88.7, on your dial. If you don't think you can make it home by three-thirty you are all welcome to come into the studio and listen to our program.

College Boards Given

College-bound seniors are preparing for their Scholastic Aptitude Tests. The first test will be given on November 6, 1965, and is a special testing date for Indiana students only. The test will also be administered on December 4, 1965, January 8, 1966, March 5, 1966, and July 9, 1966, along with Achievement Tests. Testing will take place at Andrean High School, Horace Mann High School, Roosevelt High School, Wirt High School, and Lew Wallace High School. Testing will take place on all of the above dates, with the exception of July 9, 1966. The other schools will serve as testing centers only on December 4. Wirt will administer the test on March 5. Testing will begin at 8:30 a.m. and concludes at 12:30 p.m. Achievement Tests will be given in the afternoon, but are not necessary for admittance into all colleges.

The Scholastic Aptitude Tests are required by most colleges to obtain entrance. It is a three hour objective test designed to measure how well students have developed verbal and mathematical skills. The verbal sections of the S.A.T. measure the student's ability to understand the relationships among words and ideas and to comprehend what they read. The mathematical sections measure the student's ability to understand and reason with mathematical symbols and to use them in solving problems.

Hornet Harriers Place Second

Mike Webb Sophomore On Way Up

Mike "Spider" Webb, sophomore reserve player, has been chosen outstanding player of the issue. This five-foot nine-inch, 145 pound star quarterback scored the only touchdown against Tolleston in the reserve game which gave them the game with a 7-6 lead.

"Football is my favorite sport, but I like all the other sports too," is a quote often heard from this blue-eyed boy. He participated in sports his freshman year as a quarterback on the Freshman football team and a guard on the freshman basketball team. He also participated in track last year which he believes gave him quite a bit of experience. He is going out for track and basketball again this year.

On the Freshman Activity Award Day last spring, Mike was honored by being named Outstanding Freshman Athlete.

Mike lives with his brother Bob, who is assistant coach of the Horace Mann team. The two competitive schools ring out loud in the Webb household. Mike often jokes, "I have to hide my play book from him!" His brother also plays semi-professional ball for the Joliet Explorers.

Mike enjoys baseball also. He has played Senior League third baseman for Katz Kittens for the past two years in the West Glen Park League. His team came in first in 1964.

GAA Plans Initiations

GAA members must have earned or be in the process of earning one hundred points to be eligible for initiation on November 2. Committee chairmen for the affair are: Corky Milich-informal initiation; Janis Qualiza-refreshments; Linda Watkins-decorations; and Peggy Kurowski-entertainment.

Practice wallball games are now being played. At the conclusion of a series of four games, girls will be eligible for tournament competition.

Swimming began Monday, October 11, and will continue throughout the school year.

Because of the enthusiasm shown, bowling will be held two afternoons a week.

Coach Mike Jennings, in his third year of cross country coaching has produced by far the best team Wallace has seen in many years.

Headed by number one runner, Dan Candiano, the Hornet Harriers compiled a total season record of 44 wins and only 3 losses in overall competition. The boys had a 6-2 record in the Conference and six victories in meets with city teams to take second place in both.

A total of seven boys will be assured of major letters in cross country. Dan Candiano, Gary Heid, Tom Jadernak, Cliff Shearer, Jerry Laesseeire, Joe Heid and Jim Bleicher were the top runners for the Wallace squad and will receive letters.

Reserve Frosh Promising Teams

As we enter the thick of the 1965 football season, we find the freshmen and reserves under the leadership of Dan Kachaturoff and George Rykovich. This year Coach Dan Kachaturoff is coaching the freshmen boys and teaching them the basic fundamentals of football, such as blocking and tackling. It is very important to have a well-trained, highly-skilled coach such as Dan Kachaturoff to teach the basic skills to the boys while they are still young. This is Coach Kachaturoff's first year of coaching at Wallace. In past years he has donated his time after school to help Coach Herbert train the Varsity linemen.

This year's reserve squad is coached by George Rykovich. Since 1961 Coach Rykovich has been freshman coach. He has now been made assistant varsity coach, while coaching the reserves on Saturday.

So far this season the reserves have played four ball games, losing 2 and winning 2. Most important is the valuable

With an excellent record under foot, Coach Jennings believes his team has a good chance down state and should repeat previous victories to capture a second or third place in the sectionals.

In addition to an exceptional varsity squad, the Freshman - Sophomore team has had a good season too. The younger boys won the Hammond Invitational undefeated.

Coach refused to name an outstanding runner on the team, saying that the whole team has been outstanding. However, the performances by Candiano in the Hobart Invitational, Andrean Invitational, and the City Meet were exceptional. Dan placed eighth in Hobart, in the top ten at Andrean, and second in the City.

On the whole, Wallace's Harriers placed second in the City Meet, the Conference Meet, and the Hobart Invitational. After having lost only to powerful Calumet, defeated 23 other teams for a team trophy at Hobart.

The fleet-footed Harriers also defeated Hammond High, Hammond Gavit and East Chicago Washington, who were previously undefeated.

The "Philosopher" wishes to extend its congratulations to Coach Jennings and the team for a job well done.

Beat Tolleston

game experience which is gained. Some of the outstanding players for the reserves are Randy Ensalaco, Mike Shapkhoff, Dan Gile, Nick Coveris and Mike Webb.

The freshmen have had a harder season, winning but one of their ball games. However, the winning of the game is not the most important factor. It is gained by each victory and what is learned by each defeat that really counts.

Tolleston Raiders To Clash With Mighty Hornets

Coach Bobby Stearns, experiencing his best season in five years, will pit his massive Blue Raiders against Wallace's stinging Hornets at Gilroy Field Saturday at 7:30.

Last year the Raiders had a record of 4-5, defeating such foes as Horace Mann and Froebel. With wins over Roosevelt and Emerson thus far this season, things are definitely looking up. A total of 10 lettermen returned to the Tolleston line up this season, headed by quarterback Isaac Hood.

Wallace, under the watchful eye of Coach Ed Herbert, is still pushing for as impressive a season as their N.W.C. championship of last year. With at least four wins under their belts, the Hornets will be out to improve their 28-7 thrashing they handed the Blue Raiders last season.

Doubtless, Tolleston, with its 200 pound line and fast backfield, will try to avenge last year's defeat.

Wallace will be at just about full strength for the first time this season. The result of the Tolleston game should really tell the tale of the Hornets' success.

Don "Bull" Gatch and Steve Buha will be in good shape to combine with quarterback Dave Shelbourne for the excellent running and passing game which is developing in the Hornet camp.

Coach Stearns is still smarting from defeats suffered thus far this season. The Raiders proved themselves a real threat for this and next year when they cracked the powerful Emerson line for a 30-2 victory in their third game of the campaign.

All in all, the Hornet, Blue Raider contest should be a great game. Our prediction is at least a 20-12 victory for the Hornets.

Steve Zakula (87), Dave Simola (67), and Mickey Rigotti (65), down one of Dave Ponzo's punts. Wallace won 6-0.
