LEW WALLACE HIGH SCHOOL — GARY, INDIANA

April 10, 1963

Zivich, Orlich and Kouvelas to Represent Lew Wallace At 22nd Annual Girls' State

Representing Wallace at the twenty-second Annual Hoosier Girls' State will be Shirley Zivich, Linda Orlich and Elaine Kouvelas. Their alternates are Carol Gersack, Genevieve Burcham and Tira Yermack. This year's Girls' State will be at Indiana University Campus in Bloomington, Indiana, at the Teter Quadrangle, from June 23 to June 30.

In order for a girl to be eligible she must be in good health, have a definite interest in government, have outstanding qualities of leadership, have honesty and good character, be courageous and cooperative, have a scholarship rating of a B.

The purpose of Girls' State is to educate young women in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American Citizenship.

This activity is being sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and this year Unit 214, under the chairmanship of Mrs. John G. Gray, is financing the representatives.

Those girls nominated for Hoosier Girls' State were Linda Anderson, Mary Jo Boylan, Marilyn Brasher, Becky Caylor, Gloria Chiabai, Pat Carich, Kathleen Hydo, Carol Koontz, Georgeanne Mandich, Sandra McNeil, Patricia Olis, Nancy Rectenwall, Lorraine Sackman, Harriet Siegle, Karen Simciak, Tobie Turner and Susan Vorwald.

Journalism Students to Attend Sessions At Northern Indiana Journalism Seminar

Journalism I and II students will attend the third annual Northern Indiana Journalism Seminar Saturday, April 20, at Valparaiso University.

The guest speaker at the 9:30 a.m. Convocation will be Mr. Paul Swensson, Executive Director of the Newspaper Fund, The Wall Street Journal. His topic will be "Tomorrow's Reporters."

During the noon hour, Dr. Thomas C. Shreck, Director of Student Activities and Assistant Dean of Students at Indiana University will speak at the faculty luncheon on "Whose Publications Are They?"

Leading Roles Cast For May Production

Students have been selected for the leading roles in the Spring operetta, "Brigadoon." The production will be presented May 16, 17, 18 at evening performances.

Carl Wheeler, Dave Lopez and Bill Gregoline, alternate, will play the leading male role, Tommy. Playing the leading female role, Fiona, will be Nancy Tichansky, Mari Borjan and Louise Vukusic.

Chosen for the part of Charlie were Ed Agnew, Randy Biggs and alternate, Fred Simons. Nancy Bielowiec, Audrey Lyon and Kathy Ivany, alternate, will play Mei. Jeff is being played by Jim Benton. Rodge Sampson was chosen for the part of Harry. Angus will be portrayed by Fred Simons and Jean will be played by Juanita Millan and Karen Norris. Glen Busby will play the bartender.

Singing and acting abilities were taken into consideration in the casting of the parts.

Comedy, romance and drama are the essence of the story which is about a make-believe land in Scotland that awakes only once in every 100 years.

Short courses in high school newspaper and yearbook production and advertising will be given by Mr. Jack Fresko, a Hammond, Indiana Advertising Agency Executive. Mr. George Strimbu, Lew Wallace photography teacher, will teach a course in Photojournalism.

Journalism students who will attend are Virginia Ballarino, Genevieve Burcham, Jean Jasper, Veronica Jelusich and Linda Komisarick.

Others include Mariann Kopko, Elaine Kouvelas, Steve Kurowski, Karen Kusta, Nancy Pinkerton and Janet Plesac.

Also attending the seminar will be Becky Guess, Gloria Chiabai, Jeannine Eckert, Carol Gersack, Linda Gourlay, Margie Kucan, Sharon McQuaid, Cindy Piet and Darlene Popp.

Nancy Rectenwall, Bonnie Kay Reid, Martha Burches, Harriet Siegle, Sue Vorwald, Martha Ward, Diane Wozniak, Bill Davis, Betty Lou Cook, Pat Failla, Linda Szymanski and Karen Yover conclude the list.

Miss Kathryn Simmers, student teacher in English and journalism from Indiana University, and Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, Philosopher and Quill and Blade Adviser, will also attend the seminar.

Behind The Scenes

Easter Vacation Gives Time For Fun, Work

The Easter holidays are truly a time for rejoicing and for buying that new Easter outfit and hat. But the five day holiday, including Saturday and Sunday, can offer other opportunities and pastimes.

If the weather is nice and stays as pleasant as it has been, some ambitious souls may under take a fifty mile hike while other outdoor men may spend their time fishing. Some of the boys on the track and baseball teams may get in extra practice and other people may just like to get together with friends to recover from spring fever.

There are many things to do indoors as well as out. The holiday gives students a chance to get caught up with school work that has been put off such as getting that notebook up to date, reading the last three chapters in history, or finishing the book for the book report that is due. The library may become a popular place as students work on term topics and projects for English, World Problems, or Spanish. Still some students may choose to rest during the holidays and store up energy so that they will be able to finish the year with full force.

Although we wish a Happy Easter to all and hope that the holidays prove enjoyable, we also hope that students take advantage of the five days to accomplish something. These are only some suggestions; there are many more activities to do that will make this holiday not only fun but also productive. Have a Happy Easter.

Today Marks Anniversary Of Lewis Wallace

Today marks an important day in the history of Indiana and of Lew Wallace High School. One hundred and thirty-six years ago on April 10, 1827, Lewis Wallace was born in Brookville, Indiana.

Lew Wallace was known as a famous soldier and author. He began his military career in the Mexican War and was promoted to the rank of first lieutenant during that period. At the beginning of the Civil War he was appointed adjutant general of Indiana.

Wallace has written such novels as "The Fair God," "The Prince of India" and "The Boyhood of Christ." "Ben Hur," also one of his novels, has been made into a movie.

Lew Wallace began his study of law at Crawfordsville, Indiana. From 1848 to 1861, he served a term in the Indiana Legislature. He also served in the court that tried the assassins of President Lincoln. Later he was elected governor of New Mexico and in 1881 was made minister to Turkey.

Many of the students in our school do not realize the significance of this date. After reading this, however; they should remember and be proud of it.

Mixed Feelings To Turnabout

As another turnabout approaches, there are mixed feelings among students. A few of the boys' reactions follows:

"They're all right if you want to go with the girl who asks you, but if you don't . . ."

"I think girls should pay for every bit of it and drive, too."

"They're great!"

"I'd rather go fishing."

"They can be complicated affairs at times."

"I don't think much of them."

"It gives a girl a chance to ask the kind of fellow she wants."

"They're all right."

And the girls say:

"I feel that's the only way I'll ever get to a dance."

"They shouldn't have them before the Prom."

"They're nice if you go with the right fellow."

Mr. B. Rabbit Discloses Origin Of Easter Eggs When Interviewed By Philo Reporter

Today we are interviewing a very important and famous person, Mr. B. Rabbit, the traditional bunny of Easter.

Good day, Mr. Rabbit. Please be seated.

Hi there, sonny.

Would you like to munch on a carrot during our little talk?

Thanks a heap. (munch, munch)

How are you feeling these days?

Things are really rough. I'm not the bunny I used to be; all that get up and go has gone.

That's too bad. Do you think you'll be feeling better for the traditional Easter Egg Hunt down at Gleason Park?

Oh, I hope so, sonny; hate to disappoint all those fine young folks. Did you know a nice little fellow from Wallace found the golden egg last year?

Oh, really!

No, I don't think that was his name, but anyway he was over-age; twelve's the limit, you know.

Well, we'll see to it that we stay within the limit. By the way, Mr. R., where did Easter eggs originate?

Well, sonny, I'll tell you. Some folks say they originated from pagan antiquity as a symbol of new life; I was

Mining Village Origin Of Dyed Easter Eggs

Many hundreds of years ago, a noble duchess, Rosalinda von Lindenburg, had to leave her home with her two small children and servant, because of a war which was devastating the land.

They went to live in a small mining village in the mountains. Since there was not a hen to be found in the village, there were not any eggs. The duchess sent her servant to fetch a coop full of fowl. When he returned with the birds, the natives and village children were amazed.

As Easter approached, she decided to do something for the village children. It occurred to her to boil the eggs with mosses and roots to color them.

On Easter Sunday, after the church service, all the little ones met in a garden and the duchess led them into a nearby woods. There she told them to make little nests. After finishing the task they were to return to the garden, where they would feast on mile-soup and egg-cakes. After eating, they went to the woods and each found in their nest, beautiful colored eggs with short rhymes on them.

As the children discussed the appearance of the eggs, one small girl told them that she thought a hare had sprung out of a bush and felt them. The children kept repeating this, until they actually believed it.

Not long afterward, the war ended and the duchess and her children returned with the duke to their palace. Before leaving, the duchess left a sum of money to be spent in giving the children eggs every Easter. She started this custom in her own village and soon it began to spread.

The custom found its way to America and the hare became the well-known Easter Bunny, Peter Cotton-tail.

supposed to have begun the same way, but between you and me 'twasn't that way. You see I've been around a long, long time. When I was still an up-and-coming Easter Bunny, I built a factory and began the first real dyed egg business.

I suppose next you're going to tell me you originated Easter Sunday.

No, sonny, that was the doings of the Lord and nobody should forget it. Easter is not really for Easter Bunnies, baskets, colored eggs and fancy clothes. We could have picked any day to celebrate our way. Easter is the greatest festival of the Christian church and it commemorates the Resurrection of Jesus Christ. It's really a shame what some people are making of it.

Mr. Rabbit, where did the word "Easter" originate?

"Easter," sonny, came from Eostre, an ancient Anglo-Saxon goddess, originally of the dawn. In pagan times, an annual spring festival was held in her honor. Well, sonny, it's getting late and I got a lot of work to be done before my big day, so I better be hopping along. So long and Happy Easter.

Bye sir. Happy Easter to you, and by the way, thanks for the interview.

shorter working hours.

When interviewed, Mr. Herman Schmeltz, owner and proprietor of the egg farm, said that he would do everything in his power to get the hens back to work again. He also stated that it was absolutely necessary to get them back on the job immediately in order to have enough eggs for Easter.

FRANK CAMMARATA
Soon To Become A Citizen

Debut

Frank Cammarata, senior, is going to apply for citizenship at the Hammond Immigration and Naturalization Service April 15. He is eligible for citizenship because he has lived in the United States for five years.

Frank came to America from Italy March 12, 1958, when he was 13 years old. His mother and two brothers accompanied him on the ship which docked in New York. They came to Gary to live with Frank's uncle, and his father who previously had come to America.

When Frank arrived in America he didn't speak English. He enrolled here at school and his speech teacher, Mrs. Mattie Hannsz, taught him the basic facts about the English language, which he said were difficult to learn. Frank commented that the schools in Italy are different from those in America. One difference is that an Italian school is in session six days a week instead of five.

Spanish is Frank's favorite subject while English ranks as second. Yellow is his favorite color, "Walk Like A Man" is his favorite song and his favorite dishes are steak and lasagna. The American way of living ranks in his likes also, mainly because American teenagers enjoy more privileges than Italian teens.

After graduation Frank plans to attend Indiana University and major in languages. After college he would like to work for the government in the Immigration Service. Eventually Frank plans to return to Italy.

Pete Vasil, junior, Rodney Rosandich, an alumnus of Lew Wallace, and an unnamed third party will be witnesses to Frank's oath of citizenship.

NEWS BRIEFS

SENIOR RECITAL

Auditions for the Senior Recital took place in the main auditorium on Wednesday, April 3.

Those who participated were Pat Martin, pianist; Carole Sue Gyure, pianist; Karen Norris, soprano soloist; and Nancy Tichansky, soprano soloist.

Friday, May 7, is the date set for the Sophomore Class Party. Mike Kappas and Alex Monanteras are the co-chairmen of the party. Supervising the event is Mr. Elmer Molchan, sophomore class sponsor.

The sophomores had their first class meeting recently. Mr. Harry Davis, the head of the East Chicago Probation officers, spoke on juvenile delinquency.

INDIANA STATE COLLEGE DAY

Indiana State College had open house April 6 for parents and students. A tour of the campus began the day's program, after which was a briefing on courses and fees and a visit to any two college departments. Visitors were invited to see the two top skits from the College's 1963 Campus Review.

COLLEGE ACCEPTANCES

Purdue University has accepted nine Lew Wallace students. They are Tom Buller, Mary Leon, Glenn Marquardt, Mary Kay Mathews, Jeanne Nichols, Edd Plesko, Tom Seepers, and George Schaffer.

Fred Grubar has been accepted at Washington University in St. Louis, Missouri, and Holgar Applehagen will attend Valparaiso University. Janice Thompson and Floyd Zula have been accepted at Northwestern and Indiana State has accepted Linda Komisarck.

Ferjo Awarded First Prize For Her "Brigadoon" Poster

Frances Ferjo was recently awarded first prize in the "Brigadoon" poster contest which was sponsored by the Choral Department. She received a cash prize of $15.

The second place and a $10 certificate was presented to Judy Hodges. Third place was given to Vito Spatafora along with the $5 prize. All students who participated received a free ticket for a performance of "Brigadoon."

Entrants used their own materials except the poster board which was supplied by the Choral Department. The size of the poster had to be regulation size and had to have all the required information. The posters were submitted March 29.

The judges were Mr. Jack Chidsey, Mrs. Frances Busby, Mrs. Kathryn Welsh and Mr. Donald Torreson.

After the judging, posters were displayed throughout the city.

Ivany, Hydo Receive Scholastic Art Award

Two Lew Wallace students were recently awarded certificates of merit at the Regional Scholastic Art Contest. Kathy Ivany received recognition for her charcoal portrait, and Kathleen Hydo became a Gold Key Finalist for her hooked rug in the field of textile design.

Students whose works were accepted for the regional exhibition at the South Bend Art Center from February 4 through 15 were given certificates of merit. From those, a board of judges selected a few to act as Gold Key Finalists in the national exhibitions.

This display will take place in New York City soon. The results will be published in Scholastic Magazine, the organization which sponsored the competitions.

KANSAS ART CAMP

Kathy Ivany, who received a $75 art scholarship award, will attend the University of Kansas Art Camp in Lawrence, Kansas, June 16 through July 29.

Kathy will attend classes in sculpture, figure sketching, jewelry, watercolor, portrait, and interior designs. For extra credit she will take classes in theatre, piano, and voice.

Easter Activities Surprise Stevie Stinger With Eggs and Carrots Littering the Hall

Well, here I am again! With the Easter holidays so near, I decided to buzz around the school and find out what activities everyone was planning.

As I was flying down the third floor, I bumped into Kathy Avirett and Linda Podrebarac at their lockers. They both had big tears streaming down their faces. They said that they had some beautifully colored Easter eggs for their teachers that somehow didn't survive the books and coats that were also in the locker.

As I continued down the hall I saw Judy Seepers, Pat Szczerba, Sandy McNeil, and Kathy Ivany eating carrots as if they were going out of style. When I asked Judy why everyone has such a craving for carrots, she replied that if they were good for rabbits then they were better for Hornets.

Grabbing a carrot for myself, I buzzed down to the second floor. As I passed Pete Vasil's locker, I saw Pete, Dave Horbovetz, and Dave Timmons struggling with something in it. Looking closer I found that they were trying to help Dennis Barlow get out of the locker. It seems that Dennis was helping the Easter Bunny deliver eggs and candy to the students and got one of his fuzzy pink ears caught in the locker.

Senior Students Lead

4th Period Honor Roll

The senior class again leads in the number of students on the Honor Roll. There are forty-four seniors on the fourth grade period honor roll.

FRESHMEN NAMED

The twenty-seven freshmen are Lauren Baidea, Rita Banks, Cynthia Brock, Laura Chornak, Marilyn Dartz, Joanne Fesko, Janice Langan, Linda Lesniak, Mary Markowicz, Carol Olson, Joanna Rinkovsky, Stephanie Sealock and Cheryl Ann Sirko. Also receiving all A's and B's are Sandra Taylor, Linda Sue Watkins, John Avery, Paul Bennett, Ronald Jedlikowski, Thomas Leonard, James Logan, Maich Panteiodis, Louis Regas, Joel Slossar, Sidney Spector, Steve Truchan, Craig Wardrip and Tom Wojtan.

EIGHT RECEIVE ALL A's

The students having all A's are Marion Avery, Pete Vasil, Louise Lasayko, Felicia Rodriguez, Catherine Zdoyblak, John Shinovich, Sandra Taylor and Sidney Spector.

On my way back to 214M, I heard a commotion in the study hall. As I went to investigate, the noise became louder. I discovered Dave Triplo, Scott Jordan, Linda Mason, George Lash and Edd Plesko jumping for joy because they found out about the three day vacation.

Worn out, I decided to fly back to the journalism room to start on some Easter eggs of my own. Have a Happy Easter, everyone!

Trackmen Prepare For Giant Easter Party With Easter Egg Hunt And Visit By Bunny

As you undoubtedly know, Easter time is here. It may be seen everywhere. Easter time may be seen in the stores, in the papers and in school. It may be seen even in that place known as the shower room, where all good athletes congregate to refresh themselves after a long gruelling practice to enjoy one another's intimate and enjoyable company.

I, the fabulous I. M. Grubby, waterboy extraordinary, was given the job of helping some of the trackmen hide Easter eggs for their gala Easter party. I had the capable assistance of Bob Stout, George Kos and Stan Hevath who were given this job because of its delicate nature.

Sitting in the shower with buckets of different colored paints on one side, a basketful of eggs on the other, a paint brush in his hand and an Easter lily stuck through his long, black, curly hair was Ron Kosto, who along with the eggs, was also painting delicious little quips on them. These quips were the type that only his fertile imagination could create.

While placing the eggs in many secluded places such as the soap trough, where I knew the trackmen never ventured and therefore would never find them, I was tapped on the shoulder.

As I turned around I heard the familiar saying, "Er, what's up, Doc?"

There, standing in his bunny costume, was the Easter Bunny himself, Sonny Armato. He was chewing on a carrot and trying like mad to look like Bugs.

I told him it wasn't time for the party yet and quickly pushed him into the storage room and shut the door just as he began to sing, "Here Comes Peter Cottontail."

After my job downstairs was finished, I went up to the coaches' office to wish everyone a happy Easter. Coach Herbert was displaying his new supply of paddles to Don Tokarski and sampling each one on Don to see which one had the best effect. Don seemed to like the little air-cooled oak paddle, because that was the one which received the loudest response.

It was getting late so I decided to go down and join the party and unlock the Easter Bunny from the storage room and wish all the boys a Happy Easter.

Cindermen And Batsmen Begin Competition; Linksmen Begin Preparing For Golf Season

The trackmen have been keeping pretty busy lately. They participated in the city Indoor and Conference Indoor meets at the University of Chicago field house. They took last place in the City Indoor and received a second to the last standing in the Conference Indoor. Perhaps this can be attributed to the fact that most of the other schools were working out for quite some time before the Hornet cindermen were able to begin.

The boys also had a dual meet with Gary Edison in which they lost by a slim margin, although they made a fine showing in the field events.

— HH —

Long evenings of practice have finally paid off for the baseball team. The batsmen played their first game against Wirt yesterday.

The team consists of sophomores, juniors and seniors. Coach Larry Martin said that freshmen were not eligible, as in previous years, but it is hoped that these boys will participate in track and summer baseball to strengthen themselves for varsity baseball.

Some of this year's returning lettermen are John Grube, Jerry Vedo, Fred Grubar, John Paris, Bob Malinich, John Hady and Don Moke.

— HH —

Have you seen a number of boys roaming the halls with look-alike black jackets? These are the major lettermen who received their W Club jackets recently. These jackets will be the official lettermen jackets from now on. Any boy who earns a major letter in any one of the nine sports and is a member of the W Club is entitled to get one.

— HH —

Plans for the golf season are pretty well under way. This year's schedule consists entirely of dual meets, nine of which are conference. It still has not been decided whether the home games will be played at the Gleason Park golf course or Turkey Creek Country Club.
