ARCHITECT'S SKETCH of how renovated Lew Wallace will look as viewed from 45th Avenue.

Turnabout Tonight

"Beneath the Blue" is the theme for the annual Girls' Club Turnabout to be held tonight, November 17, in the main gym from 8-11 p.m. The sea theme will be accented by the colors of aqua and blue crepe paper decorating the gym. Murals depicting various sea scenes will also decorate the halls. Music will be provided by the "We Three Trio."

Dress for the dance includes either a wool suit or good dress for girls. Boys must wear a sport jacket and tie or a suit and tie. Tickets for the dance are $2.00 per couple. Picture appointments and payment have been made with Mr. Strimbu; the price of the pictures is $3.00. No flowers will be permitted at the dance.

"Everything has gone according to schedule and the turnabout should be a large success," according to Pat Sokolowski, general chairman of the dance. "The girls have put forth much of their time, effort, and talents to make this year's turnabout one of the most creative ever."

Committees for the turnabout are as follows: Decorations, Shirley Yovanoff and Nancy Bozich; Refreshments, Barbara Langan and Carol Piasecki; Programs, Sandy Broadstone; Pictures, Gloria Galetka; Tickets, Cathy Allman; Cloak Room, Nancy Davies; and Clean-up, Jo Ann Hanes.

Can you imagine Lew Wallace with a gym seating 3,500 people, a cafeteria large enough for all students, a new Olympic-size swimming pool, and an attractive, completely new front facing 45th Avenue? These and many additional features are already on architectural drawing boards, and construction is tentatively set for spring of 1968.

The purpose of Lew Wallace's expansion is to provide facilities for more up-to-date and effective education. The renovation cost is estimated at $4,600,000 and is to be completed two years after construction is started.

The renovation will provide many advantages. For example, the rebuilt Lew Wallace will be completely under one roof. The portables are to be removed, and the gym and cafeteria additions will cover the whole playground area.

NEW ADDITIONS

New additions on both east and west sides will include nine new science rooms, several new language rooms, industrial arts shops, and the music department.

In the addition off Jackson Street will be new offices for the principals and guidance counselors. The open area above the present junior library will be made into study halls. From this study hall area, steps will lead to the new library, which will be in the location of the present cafeteria, which will be expanded to the west.

Classrooms for all the different departments such as music, business education, and social studies will be grouped together. Most of these departments will be expanded; for example, the business education department will have seven rooms.

The field off 47th Avenue will be improved with bleachers, four tennis courts, and a separate baseball field. The parking area will also be considerably expanded.

300 ATTEND OPEN HOUSE

More than 300 persons attended Lew Wallace's annual "Back to School Night," which was held Friday, November 10, from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. This event climaxed American Education Week, which lasted from Monday, November 6, through Friday, November 10.

The purpose of the open house was to briefly demonstrate what occurs during a typical school day. Parents followed an abbreviated version of their children's schedules, which consisted of six classes, each one ten minutes long. They were allowed five minutes to pass to the next class. Teachers explained some of the material used, the teaching methods they employed, or what was happening in the class at that time. There were room displays of past and current work or related material.

When asked his opinion of the effectiveness of "Back to School Night," Mr. William Vorwald, principal, commented, "Most of the parents I spoke to preferred this year's system of class visitation to that of past years because they did not have to stand in line to visit with teachers and because they also gained insight into their child's program. In addition, the bringing together of teachers and parents under pleasant conditions such as these is an aid to the students because the teachers and parents are partners in education."

Miss Leskow's FTA members assisted as ushers and guides throughout the buildings. The program was followed by refreshments served by Mrs. Anderson's home economics classes in the cafeteria.

THANKSGIVING 1967

As Thanksgiving draws near, people traditionally pause to think about what they can be thankful for. Although it is true that the world is in a rather sad state of affairs, there remain many things for which we can be grateful.

For instance, Americans can be glad they have the United States to claim as their homeland. Vast opportunities are available to anyone who wants to take advantage of them, and the government is trying to remedy the problems of those who need help.

We at Lew Wallace are also fortunate. Here, we are able to obtain a good education. As adults of tomorrow, our prospects are bright.

You think that you have nothing for which to be grateful? Look around and take an honest view of your surroundings. Then, before you begin to gorge yourself with the traditional Thanksgiving dinner, take a few moments to thank God, the Giver of Life.

WILL YOU HELP?

Through the years Student Council has been criticized for its lack of representation of the entire student body. This year, the Council recognizes its faults and is trying to correct them.

One of the ideas currently being discussed concerns a different form of representation, with delegates from each homeroom. This proposal would necessitate a bicameral legislature and would involve rewriting the constitution. For this reason, a committee has been formed to evaluate the existing set of laws.

To have the most effective Council, everyone must support it and its activities. If you have any ideas or opinions, you may present them at any of their meetings. Anyone may attend; it is not restricted to representatives. In the words of Dave Dzunda, president, "Every student should be aware of this important issue."

The administration, faculty, and student body all have definite feelings about the change Student Council is going through. Regardless of the way the issue ends, however, the Council should be commended for the efforts to fulfill its responsibilities in the best way possible.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I am very happy to report to you that the NCA Evaluation of our school was most commendable and complimentary to our staff. The committee stated that our own evaluation reports were very thorough. They were especially pleased with the cooperative spirit of our entire staff. The committee, however, did not have many kind words to say about our facilities.

The student body was highly commended for their school spirit and pride in their school. The students were very courteous to our visitors.

On behalf of Mr. Smith and myself I wish to express my sincere thanks to everyone who cooperated with us during this most important endeavor.

Mr. Vorwald
Principal

Yearbooks Sold In Homerooms

"Just remember, the yearbook is your book!" This is the motto that the 1968 Quill & Blade staff is using while planning the new annual, which will be distributed in the spring.

Sales officially began on Monday, November 13, and will continue through Friday, December 22.

A new sales approach is being used this year. The Quill & Blade is being sold in homerooms by chosen representatives. Those who sell subscriptions to at least 80 per cent of their homerooms will be given a complimentary annual. The goal has been set at 1800 annuals.

Janice Liedtke and Michele Opalak are this year's Quill & Blade co-editors.

Need Financial Help?

With college costs going up, thousands of students may not have resources adequate to meet these costs. Such students should know about financial aid.

What is financial aid? It is a general term which refers to all forms of help beyond the student's and his family's personal resources. There are five major forms of financial aid. They are (1) part-time employment, opportunities, (2) loans, (3) grants-in-aid, (4) scholarships, and (5) fellowships.

When should applications for financial aid be made? Early!! Just what is meant by "early," and how early is "early"? September and October of the senior year is the best time. Some colleges even suggest applying during the spring term of the junior year.

Who offers financial aid? The most numerous forms of financial aid come directly from the colleges and universities themselves. Others are civic and community organizations, fraternal orders, government agencies, labor unions, professional societies, religious groups, veterans organizations, and a host of other miscellaneous individuals and groups.

Where does one apply for financial aid? Immediately after applying for outside financial aid, it is best to apply directly to the college's Financial Aid Office.

STUDENTS FOR BETTER GARY MAKE PLANS

Youth for a Better Gary is now reorganizing to try to improve Gary through peaceful methods.

Meetings are the second and fourth Sundays of every month at 2:00 p.m. in the basement of City Methodist Church, at Sixth and Washington.

The new constitution will be adopted at a special meeting held Sunday, November 19. Plans for the near future include working on the Hospital Drive.

Each of the Gary Public High Schools and Andrean are to be represented on the Executive Council. Election of the representatives from each school will be done by members of the school in the near future.

Youth for a Better Gary is not connected with the School City of Gary; however, plans are being made for talks with the Superintendent of Schools.

Anyone interested in membership may call 887-6640 or 938-7740 for further information.

We wish to extend our deepest sympathy to the family of John Vahary. John, a 1967 graduate, died as a result of a traffic accident on Wednesday, November 8, at Vincennes College, Vincennes, Indiana.

Memorial Established for Mark Flud

On Friday, October 20, Mark Flud, a senior at Wallace, was fatally injured as a result of an automobile accident, at New Albany, Iowa. He was traveling with his parents to visit relatives at the time of the accident. His mother died a few days later, leaving his father the sole survivor. Mark was buried in Stigler, Oklahoma, the following Thursday.

Those who knew Mark remember him in different ways. Linda Biedulwicz, senior, had this to say, "He was really polite and sweet. He was an all-around good guy." Mike Chaykowski, senior, commented, "I was terribly shocked at the death of Mark Flud because he was such a wonderful kid, and he had so much to live for." One of his teachers, Mr. Tom Carpenter, commented, "If we had more boys like Mark at our school, it would be a much better place."

A memorial fund in his honor, headed by senior class president Don Shelbourne, collected a total of $70.63. It has not been decided how the money will be used, although some will be offered to the 43rd Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Fads and Fashion

by Vicky Skorich

High school students have rapidly adopted the latest fashions appearing on college campuses. The "casual look," marked by loafers and knee-length stockings is now "in" with high school students, soon after it became a way of life on college campuses.

Loafers, often with square toes, and colorful knee socks, are frequently paired with fashion's latest rage—the kilt. This plaid skirt, adopted directly from the ancestral uniform of Scottish Highlanders, is usually accented with an oversized safety pin and sometimes a small matching "pouch," worn loosely around the waist on a chain belt.

The fisherman's cable knit sweater is an absolute "must" for the stylish student on a high school or college campus. The style is casual, the fit is loose, and the color is neutral.

Belts are big fashion business. For boys, the look is wide leather belts in brown or black. Girls have revived a fashion of the '30's by wearing wide, sporty belts on sweaters, dresses, blouses, jumpers and coats. Although the belt rage has just begun to appear in high schools, college students feel a belt is an essential accent to almost any outfit.

In addition to belts, high school students have adopted the shoulder bag, considered a necessity for running between classes with an armful of books on college campuses. However, collegi-ates usually carry conservatively styled purses and the more fashionable and adventurous high school girls are now toting small leather shoulder bags, accented by chain shoulder straps and brassy buckles.

The Ivy League mode of fashion continues to influence styles in both universities and high schools. Pinstripe shirts, frequently coupled with V-neck sweaters, were once the uniform of college men, but are now worn by men and women in college and high school alike. In fashions for girls, this trend has created such styles as the shirtdress and oxford cloth "man-shirts."

Today it is evident that clothes considered appropriate for college life are often appropriate for high school classes. One needn't travel to a college campus to view the latest fashions. "In" styles on campus are very obvious in high school hallways.

BOYS' CLUB PROJECTS BEGIN

"Happiness is a Hornet Victory" buttons are the current project of the Boys' Club under the supervision of Mr. Elmer Molchan. The large black and gold buttons displaying the "Happiness is . . ." legend are one of two kinds being made available by the Boys' Club. The buttons may be purchased for 40¢ in Mr. Molchan's room.

Money from the sale of buttons will be used to sponsor trips to sport contests in Chicago. "Future plans call for trips to a Chicago Bulls basketball game and a Chicago Black Hawks hockey contest, where members can be assured of witnessing plenty of action," reported Mr. Molchan.

Also in upcoming plans are the formation of a pool and a bowling tournament for sometime in December. Looking ahead into next year, the Boys' Club has scheduled its annual dance for January 19, 1968.

All membership cards have been sent out to those who have paid their dues, Mr. Molchan stated. Boys still wishing to join the club should contact sophomore Jeff Ross and pay their 25¢ dues.

CONCERT CHOIR SINGS a selection from the choral review "Sing and Be Happy," which was presented Thursday, November 9 (Photo by Gary Adamoski)

Reviews at Random

by Debby Foler

If you as a movie-goer are prepared to think, reason, and evaluate, "A Man For All Seasons" is the perfect film for you. With a screen-play by Robert Bolt, the plot is almost as confusing and historically entwined as "Doctor Zhivago," which was also adapted by Bolt.

Sir Thomas More is the psychologically explored main character. As a devout Christian and man of political importance, he refuses to approve Henry VIII's divorce. Through freakish circumstances and with all forces against him, More is finally tried for treason and executed.

The object is to determine for yourself whether More was justified in his convictions. The man must be greatly admired for his firm beliefs, but was there any point in his martyrdom? Should religion and politics, like religion and science, be disassociated? It is difficult to determine whether or not More's emotions overpowered his common sense.

The movie depends primarily upon the ability of the actors, because the scenery is not as spectacular as that of many of the movies now made. The costuming, however, is very impressive. Paul Scofield is excellent as the main character. He has complete control of the part and his dignified, unyielding stature makes him even more effective.

The fact that the picture won the Academy Award as the best picture of the year speaks well for the movie industry. This wasn't merely entertainment, but was a film which required thought and concentration.

CONCERT CHOIR PRESENTS REVUE

"Sing and Be Happy," the annual Lew Wallace choral review, was presented at a matinee performance on Wednesday, November 8, and at an evening performance on Thursday, November 9.

The review featured popular and folk music sung by the Lew Wallace Concert choir and select singers. Some of the highlights were "Hallelujah" and "Stouthearted Men" sung by the entire company, "Hey! Look Me Over" performed by the girls, and "All Through the Night" sung by the boys.

As an added attraction, two compositions from Mr. Fissinger's score for a musical play were presented for the first time. These selections were "Star Waltz" and "When It's Love Again."

Larry Manion, a 1967 graduate of Lew Wallace, was the master of ceremonies. Larry is now studying drama at the Indiana University Extension.

Mr. Fissinger, music teacher, was the director, and the pianist was Mrs. Sheppard, Mr. Fissinger's sister.

CAROL MAXEY, FORMER STUDENT, ENJOYS AIR FORCE

"I wouldn't trade this for anything," stated Carol Maxey, a 1967 graduate of Lew Wallace and a former lieutenant colonel of the R.O.T.C., who returned to school for a visit on Friday, November 3.

Carol joined the Air Force on August 11, 1967, and was stationed for six weeks of basic training at Lackland Air Force Base in Texas. After completion of basic training, she was sent to Sheppard Air Force Base, which is also in Texas. She has now returned to Sheppard after her ten days leave, which ended November 15. A nine week course awaits her in Dental Assisting, upon completion of which she will receive her IBM report card; misery is finding out it was a mistake.

Happiness is learning about the new addition to the school; misery is finding out it won't be ready until after you have graduated.

Happiness is new high heels for a dance; misery is finding out you're taller than your date.

Carol said the roughest part of her training was the Bivouac, or field training. The training was done at Red River Valley, a simulated field which was in rough, hilly and open country. The squadron's daily food consisted of C-rations and water. Learning how to apply field dressing and the general treatment of field casualties was also taught at Bivouac.

An average day at Sheppard begins with awakening at 4:00 a.m. and starting classes at 6:00 a.m. until noon. 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. is devoted to study. After 4:00 p.m. is the squadron's free time, which is usually spent at the movies, shopping, or at the Service Club.

When asked why she joined the Air Force, Carol replied, "I hoped that I could serve my country in some small way."

Jim Mandon, junior: "Self-conscious"

Miss Dorothy Jaclach, teacher: "Dedicated"

Carol Lemach, freshman: "Charming"

Sue Jostes, junior: "Gullible"

Mr. Charles Chase, teacher: "Conscientious"

TEEN NITE NOW OPEN TO ALL

A Teen Nite program, which reviews new books and serves as liason between the schools and the library system, has been organized by the Gary Public Library.

The Teen Nite is under the direction of a Teen Council, which is open to all junior and senior high students. Anyone may join the Council at its meeting in the conference room at the main library Saturday, November 25, at 11:00 a.m.

Miss Mary Ann Herbert, Young Adult Services Librarian, is in charge of Teen Nite, which is held each Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. Teen Nite, along with the Teen Council's Saturday planning session, is held in the Main Branch of the Gary Public Library.

ROTC Seeks New Members

"Left face" and "To the rear, march", are not all that the R.O.T.C. program consists of. R.O.T.C. can instill leadership, discipline, and a broad knowledge of general military subjects.

This year the R.O.T.C., headed by Sergeant Sunnykalb, is looking for new members. The program hopes to double the present enrollment of 110 members by the end of the year.

Plans for an overnight field trip to Kingsbury are now being made by the members. At Kingsbury, cadets will learn practical application of military tactics used in the army today.

The R.O.T.C. program is open to all students who wish to join. If interested, see your counselor.

Mermen Open New Season

Bolstered by the return of eight major letter winners from last year's team, the 1968 swimming team will open its season at home on Tuesday, November 28, at 7:00 p.m. They will compete against Portage, Horace Mann, and Whiting.

Returning from last year's varsity, which captured nine of fifteen meets and placed second in the Northwest Indiana Conference, are seniors Walt Bobdanich, John Brodar, Pete Coker, Paul Gaydos, Blair Hills, Fred Spicer, Dennis Yugo, and junior John Renner.

Swimming Coach Ed Troy recently commented, "The potential is there and our record will depend on the boys' attitudes and how much they want to sacrifice." In Paul Gaydos and Walt Bogdanich, Coach feels that he has two of the top breaststroke competitors in the city. He also cited Dennis Yugo as an outstanding performer in the free-style events.

When asked who would be the team to beat this year, Coach Troy replied that defending NWC champion Valparaiso will again be a tough opponent. In all, seventy boys tried out for the team this year.

Question of the Week

"What is your reaction to the new report card system?" was the question presented to students and teachers for this issue of the Philosopher.

Mrs. Patricia Barnes, teacher: "I don't like to feel everything will be done according to the number system. The personal contact is gone, especially in the homeroom. Also, it didn't actually save work."

Patti Parkhurst, junior: "I don't care for the new system. It's too complicated."

Rosiland Jones, senior: "The older way is better because the new system isn't as well organized and it takes a long time to get a mistake changed."

Kathy Bleicher, freshman: "I don't like it because you can't get pluses or minuses."

Jerry Mancilla, sophomore: "I like it because you don't have to carry a card around with you all day."

Rich Ban, senior: "I believe it is a poor system because the student should have the right to see his report card before his parents in order to prepare them."

Miss Olive Leskow, teacher: "I like it because you can see all the grades of the students in your homeroom. Of course, I know some of the bugs have to be ironed out."

Connie Tipton, junior: "I don't think they trust us or else they wouldn't have to send the report cards home."

Mr. Sam Pollak, teacher: "I would like to have more time to consider the merits and disadvantages of the system."

Jill Mancilla, senior: "I like it. You can hide it easier than before."

Pam Myer, freshman: "Terrible!"

Mr. David Schoon, teacher: "It's not much different from the other system. I don't think it's any more convenient or inconvenient."

Sandy Mostak, sophomore: "I think they are cheap looking and you can't do anything about a mistake in grading."

Joe Manley, junior: "I hate it because you lose the half hour out of class for homeroom on the day of report cards."

Paul Abbate, freshman: "It isn't good because your parents find out your grades before you do."

HARRIERS FINISH 500 SEASON

Under the watchful eye of Coach Ed Troy and the leadership of team captain Rick Horbovetz, senior, this year's Lew Wallace harriers ended the season with a 9-9 record on Tuesday, October 10. In Northwest Conference action, the team finished with a record of 7 wins and 8 losses.

Varsity members included trophy winners Walt Bogdanich, Ken Hanaway, Rick Horbovetz, Jerry Laisure and Jim Stochel. Also included were major lettermen Ron Binkley, Tony Girgenti, Mark Kusmierczyk, Dave Lasayko, Henry Olszewski and Mike Shaver.

In reserve action, the harriers record 8 wins and 7 losses. The reserves consisted of minor letter winners Tony Frudakis, Gerald Jenkins, Fred Tokarchuck and freshmen Ron Tassi and Phil Vuletic.

Cagers Open Next Week

Coach Don Polizotto's cagers, led by senior lettermen Tom Bell, Alan Milgi, and Doug Maretich, will open this year's schedule on Friday, November 24, against East Chicago Roosevelt at Memorial Auditorium.

Coach had this to say about the team, "It is still too early to comment on how we'll do this season; however, the boys have shown a lot of spirit and desire thus far. Also pivot man Al Milgi and forward Tom Bell have improved a great deal since last year."

The 1967 roundball team, which had an overall record of 6-11 and a conference record of 4 wins and 7 losses, was one that was comprised primarily of seniors. Inexperience may not hinder the Hornets this year, however, because of the presence of four strong guards on the squad.

Hopeful of making this year's varsity are seniors Al Milgi, Tom Bell, Tom Heins, Doug

MATMEN COULD HAVE BEST YEAR

"This will be one of the best wrestling teams that Wallace has ever had," predicted Coach Rykovich, wrestling coach, in a recent interview.

Eight returning lettermen will be the nucleus of this year's team. These boys, according to Coach Rykovich, may make up a conference championship team. The boys are Don Shelbourne, Joe Coubal, Rich Ban, Bob Elch, Mickey Lugar, Art Sarris, Lennie Siekman, all seniors, and Terry Wise, junior.

MILES WINS INTRAMURAL MEET

In the intramural cross-country competition, freshman Tim Miles (Homeroom 36) took the top individual honors with a time of 9:20.4 for the one-and-five-eighths miles around the North Gleason Park Golf Course on Thursday, October 12.

Homeroom 92 had the low score of 10 points and, as a result, they are considered the championship team. They were the only team to have two finishers in the top ten. The score is based on the first two runners across the finish line from each homeroom.

As champion, Tim received a trophy while the other finishers will receive blue ribbons.

The top ten finishers and their respective homerooms are as follows: second-Ed Piatek, 37; third-Bill Elwood, 92; fourth-George Momcilovich, 75; fifth-Stan Polak, 76; sixth-Mike Hendrick, 54; seventh-Paul Gaydos, 92; eighth-Greg Elwood, 32; ninth-George Hoffman, 34; and tenth-Steve Johnson, 73.

After 35 years of coaching and playing, Head Football Coach Ed Herbert recently announced that he is retiring from the head coaching position at Lew Wallace. He does, however, plan to stay on at the school, possibly as third assistant for one year, and then he will continue teaching Physical Education.

Coach Herbert has two main reasons for his retirement. First of all, he says that twenty-five years of coaching is just about enough for anyone, and, secondly, he will be going in for his fourth knee operation this Christmas. Because of the knee trouble, Coach Herbert cannot get down and practice with the boys as he used to, and he feels that he is therefore not able to benefit them as much as he would like to.

ATTENDED HORACE MANN

Coach Ed Herbert is originally from Gary, where he attended Horace Mann High School and had a very successful football career. He played fullback, and his senior year was captain of the team. Playing alongside of Tom Harmon, who went on to achieve fame as an All-American at the University of Michigan and who is now a nationally known sports announcer, Coach Herbert helped Horace Mann win the Conference and State Championship in 1936.

After graduation, Coach Herbert went on to Indiana University, where he majored in Physical Education, played three years of varsity football, and starred at both the fullback and quarterback positions. He also played in the annual College All-Star Game at Soldier Field in 1942 and the All-Star Game in Philadelphia against the Philadelphia Eagles the same year.

In 1942 when he graduated from I.U., Coach Herbert was offered a college coaching job, but turned it down because he wanted to work with high school football players.

RETURNS TO HORACE MANN

Coach Herbert originally came to Gary to teach Physical Education, but he accepted the head coaching job at Tolleston High School in 1943, spending eight years at that school.

In 1951, he went back to his old alma mater, Horace Mann, where he was an assistant football coach for ten years. He could have gone to other schools as a head coach, but preferred to remain as assistant because of a strong desire to coach at his old school.

In 1961, Coach Ed Herbert was asked to come to Lew Wallace to coach football. Wallace had good material, so he accepted the job and has been extremely successful here for his seven years, compiling an overall record of 47-13-4.

Coach Herbert's association with sports does not end here, however. Back in 1951, he started officiating Big Ten basketball, and in 1954 he began officiating football. He just recently gave up basketball, but plans to continue football refereeing. He has officiated at two Rose Bowl games, in 1963 and 1965, and some NCAA Basketball Tournaments.

GREATEST THRILLS

Understandably, he said that last year's undefeated Conference Champion team was the best he ever coached. They were smart individuals who could adjust after they went out on the field. When asked how football in Northern Indiana compares to that elsewhere, he replied that our football is just as good or better than anywhere else in the U.S.

Coach Herbert's biggest thrills have been winning the championship last year, and being able to defeat Hobart the last five years. Hobart used to consider Wallace a doormat team.

When asked who he thought the best player to come out of Gary was, Coach, without any hesitation named Tom Harmon. There were also other outstanding ones such as Hank Stram, now coach of the AFL Champion Kansas City Chiefs, and Julie Rykovich, who went on to play pro football.

Coach Herbert had this to say about coaching: "I enjoy coaching football, and it will be hard to get out, but the time comes when you must say goodbye to things."

"Lew Wallace has one of the finest student bodies and faculties that I have associated with and I can only hope that it continues that way." These were the closing remarks of a man who has given much to Lew Wallace and to football, a man that Lew Wallace and the city of Gary is extremely proud of. This is Coach Eddie Herbert.
