A Year

Of Change . . .

Instant world-wide communication, plans for journeys to the moon, satellites, foreign exchange programs--these are the results of change. One day we may hail them as dynamic innovations, and the next they may become as familiar as the telephone and television. Even in our school lives we are subjected to drastic change to which we become accustomed.

Because of over-crowded conditions, school operated on a double shift. Senior high students attended from 7:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon, and the junior high used our facilities in the afternoon for the first semester. That 6:00 a.m. alarm awoke all of us to the fact that classes began one hour earlier and that often we had to greet the day before the dawn.

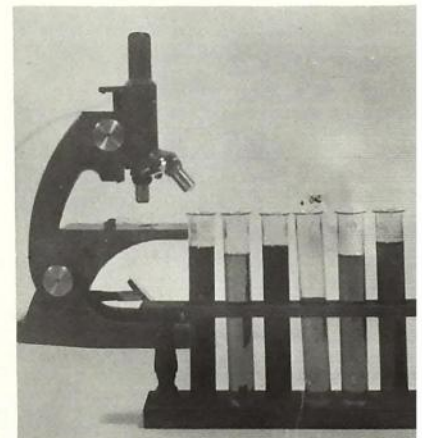

New equipment in the science, foreign language, and workshop departments; advanced courses in history, mathematics, and English; new club activities; the latest fads and fashions--all helped to make 1962-63 A Year of Change.

English Provides Basis for Study of English is one of the world's most widely-spoken languages, and we are required to take at least three courses. We must master the skills of our language before we specialize in one of the more than 138 principal languages of the world.

As freshmen, we are introduced to our first intensive study of literature. Treasure Island, Ivanhoe, and David Copperfield are books we read.

Julius Caesar is our first introduction to tragedy. Short stories and autobiographies provide opportunities to exhibit any writing skills we may possess.

What junior can forget the long hours spent in the library working on term topics or the intensive study of American literature?

Our final year is spent in studying Canterbury Tales, Tale of Two Cities, and composition. English literature, an advanced course in western world literature, will long be remembered because of the eight-pound book we carried.

"ARE YOU sure there are 132 rooms in the White House?" questions Mrs. Hester Courtright as she returns Anita Thomas' term topic.

KENT MAYBAUM adds the finishing touch to his sod house, made as a project to supplement Giants in the Earth.

MISS EVELYN PARNELL has served as English Department Chairman for the past two years.

"AND THIS is Grandfather . . ." writes Sandra Siegle in attempt to trace her ancestry for her autobiography.

138 Languages

JAMES IRELAND, Harry Klein, and Pat Hansen work for greater speed and comprehension in reading.

JUDY HODGES makes some suggestions to Fred Grubar, Louise Pattee, and Mike McCarn for a discussion about world literature presented during National Education Week.

Future Reporters Learn 5W's and H

In journalism we apply many things that we have been taught in regular English classes. Clear, concise, and complete sentences are important. Every journalism student knows the value of the five W's and the H—who, what, when, where, why, and how.

To prepare us for news writing, we read outstanding newspapers and make headline books to learn the best techniques for school publications.

"WHEN?" ASKS Gloria Chiabai of Mr. Joseph Mrak, sponsor of Pica Club, during an interview for a journalism article.

MRS. KATHRYN WELSH points out a good example of a headline to Sandra Cox and Darlene Popp.

WHEN BOOKS are returned, they must be put in their correct places on the shelves for future references. This is one of the jobs of Jill Myers.

WHEN STUDY hall becomes too noisy, students can find peace in the libraries as Pat Spurlock, Linda Moore, Jeff Stefanovich, and Ron Bachinski know.

Libraries Add References To Aid Students

"What is the basic unit of society?" The answer to this and many other baffling questions can be found in either the Junior or Senior Libraries. During our freshman-sophomore years we have access to the Junior Library. Then, as our courses become more difficult, we use the Senior Library which has recently added the Great Books of the Western World, new atlases, figurines, maps, and paperback books. The libraries aid us in another way. When we have homework that requires concentration we can go into one of the libraries where silence is the rule, and we can work undisturbed.

"A CARD file can be a very useful thing," agrees Sharon Olds while she makes a list of references in the library.

GARY GREENBAUM checks the controls while Joe Randolph tells the radio audience what the next selection will be.

WGVE Expands Programming

STUDENTS IN radio classes learn the proper method of breathing for broadcasting.

JON FORGEY, Joe Randolph, and Gary Greenbaum are responsible for announcing the Wallace basketball games to listeners at home

WGVE has the unique distinction of being the only student-operated radio station in the Gary School System. Recently, it has extended its time on the air and has expanded its programming to include a wider audience. This includes children's programs, a variety of music, and all the home basketball games.

To prepare for broadcasting, students in radio classes, under the direction of Mr. Lawrence Ventura, are required to do breathing exercises, to write scripts, and to learn helpful sound effects.

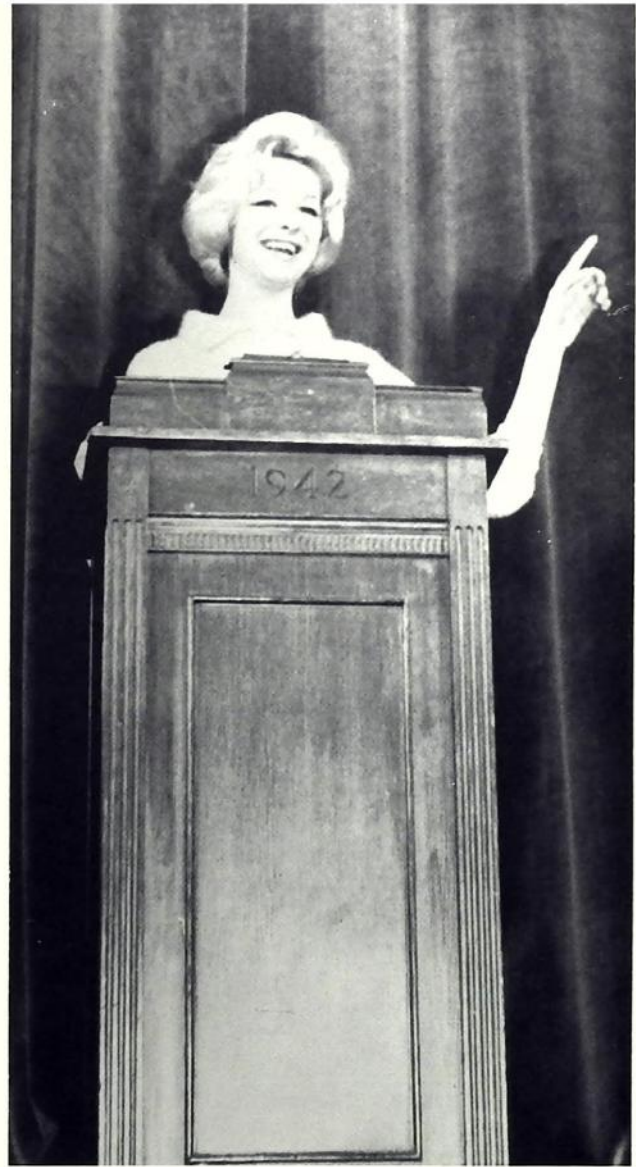

Two recent additions in the radio room are a sound lock and sound proofed walls.

Speech, Drama Encourage Future Orators and Actors

Future Sarah Bernhardts and Daniel Websters may today be spending time developing their talents in the speech and drama classes. Under the supervision of Mrs. Mary F. Busby and Mrs. Mattie Hannsz, students endeavor to improve diction and gain poise while speaking before an audience.

As part of their training in order to put them at ease, students are required to act out pantomimes before an audience. This also gives a new inference to an old adage--actions are more effective than words. But actions alone cannot hold the attention of an audience. Diction and correct grammatical constructions in speeches and character parts are important, too. Students are given selected topics as subjects about which to write their speeches. When voices and actions are developed sufficiently, students learn parts in plays which are presented for the benefit of the school.

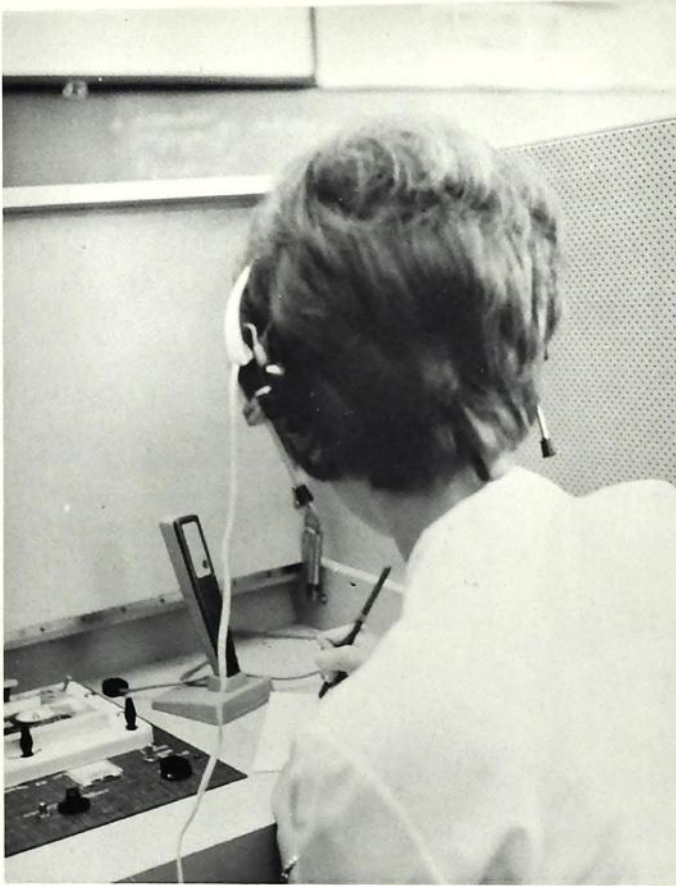

PHYLIS CHORNACK practices diction and actions while presenting a speech in drama class.

KAREN JAKOVAC, Ed Agnew, Tom Serynek, Sharron White, Donna Wimsett, and Lois Berglund prepare a discussion for drama class.

Foreign Languages

MARGIE KUCAN, French III student, receives instructions from "the voice on the tape."

Como estas? Tres bien. Et tu. To many of us, at least one of these phrases is from a familiar dialogue we learned as beginning foreign language students.

The first two years of a foreign language are spent learning the correct grammatical forms and a basic vocabulary.

For the first time, Spanish IV, Latin IV, and French III were offered to students who wished to become more adept in conversational usage.

As results of high scores on tests taken at Indiana University, seven Spanish students won trips to Mexico for 10 weeks. They lived with Mexican families during their visit and attended classes seven hours a day. The practical knowledge gained by living in the native atmosphere was helpful.

Modern equipment is used in foreign language classrooms. Probably the most helpful of these aids is the language-lab. Other aids which we find useful are language records, tapes, films, and filmstrips.

IN ORDER to facilitate learning the French language, Sharon Gnemi, Trina Tyler, and Nada Starcevic arrange a bulletin board of pictures, drawings, and postcards.

SPANISH FAMILY life is portrayed by Connie Robinson, Louise Pattee, Judy Hodges, and Nick Vasil.

Promote International Understanding

BILL DINWOODY,
Georgeanne Mandich, and Mary L. Davis display miniature weapons similar to those used by the ancient Romans as a part of their Latin IV course.

NANCY TICHANSKY, Linda Orlich, Louise
Lasayko, Genevieve Burcham, Tobie
Turner, and Tira Yermack display souvenirs of their trip to Mexico while they discuss the pros and cons of Mexican living.

TAKING ADVANTAGE of new foreign foreign language films, Mrs.
Jeannette Hady shows 'Leo a la Ferme' to her French II students.

MR. ELMER MOLCHAN and several Wallace students attend the first National Security Seminar at I. U. Extension.

From the Past We Build the Future

With the current world crises shaping the lives of future citizens of the world, it is becoming more imperative that we understand the problems that confront us.

In world history, we delve into the problems of the world as a whole. We study U.S. History to learn how our country developed into a great nation. As seniors, we learn the mechanics of our government. Economics or world problems may be taken during the second semester.

AP U.S. History was offered for the first time to qualified juniors. Taught by Miss Shirley Bryan, it introduces students to college lecture instruction. The opportunity for deep research on one's own is a major goal in this class.

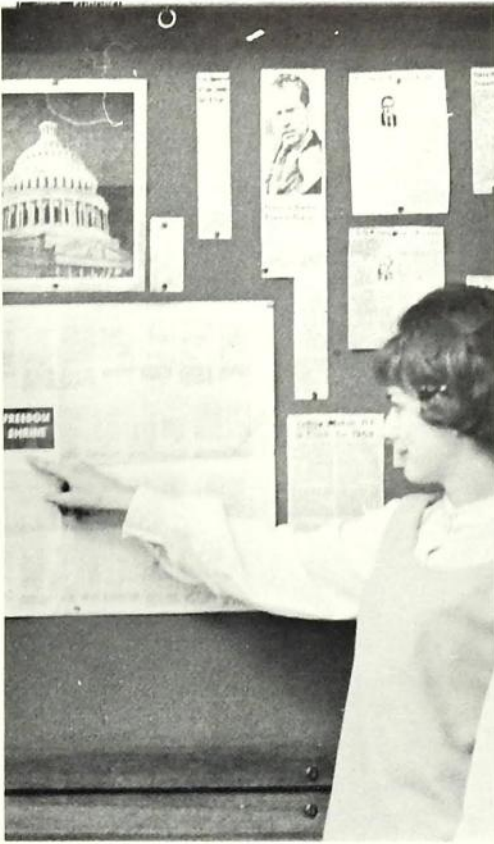

MR. WILLIS McALLISTER shows Jim Schultz, Sue Vorwald, and Mary Jo Boylan how our country has expanded.

MISS SHIRLEY BRYAN lectures to her AP U. S. History class on the Industrial Revolution.

Man's Reasoning Helps Us to Understand Why

ETHEL BONE explains her world problems bulletin board.

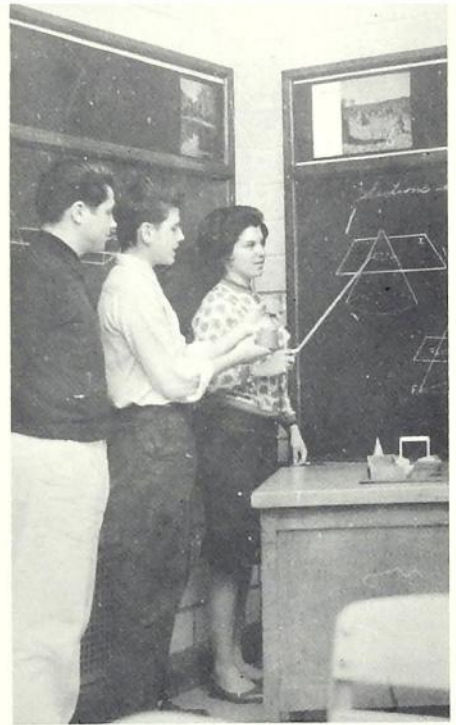

IN PSYCHOLOGY class Genaro Melellin attempts to stay within the lines while looking into a mirror as Sandra Hansen watches.

"AD=DB: GIVEN," explains Miss Helen Rzepka to Hope Hills in plane geometry class.

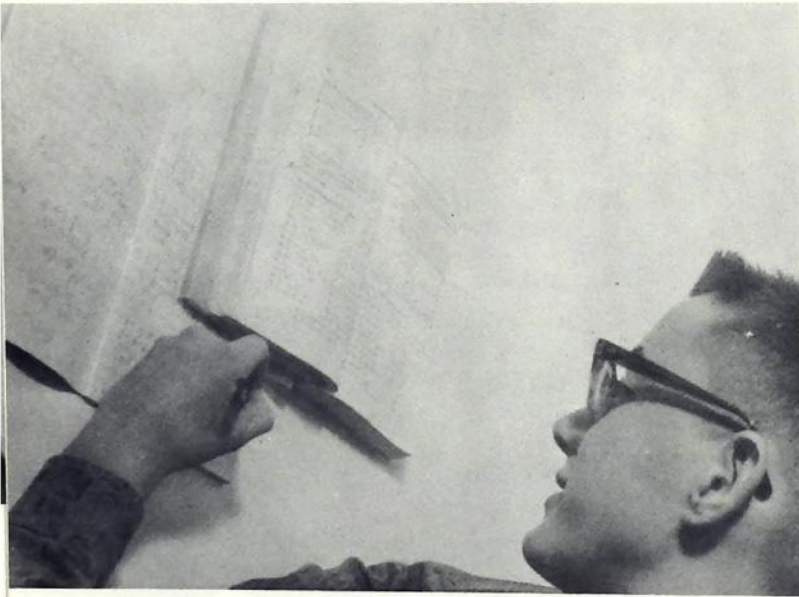

DON HODURSKI and John Sovich attempt to prove that Andy Cokus' proof is incorrect.

Sciences Involve

Great stress is placed on mathematics for the Space Age. Many students are taking advantage of several diversified courses offered in this field.

General math, Applied Math X, Algebra I, geometry, Algebra II, and trigonometry are offered to math students. The trig course introduces students to the college courses of analytic geometry and calculus.

GEORGE SHAFFER ponders over a complicated Algebra II problem.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS learn the classification of leaf structures and scientific names of trees and plants from Miss Lola Lemon, biology teacher.

Deep Concentration

Friendship 7, Sputnik, nuclear weapons, Mariner, Telstar-- all owe their very existence to the concentrated efforts of scientists who once began in laboratories much like our own. Within our school labs, a potential Albert Einstein may now be dissecting a frog
balancing an equation, or computing the speed of a rocket.

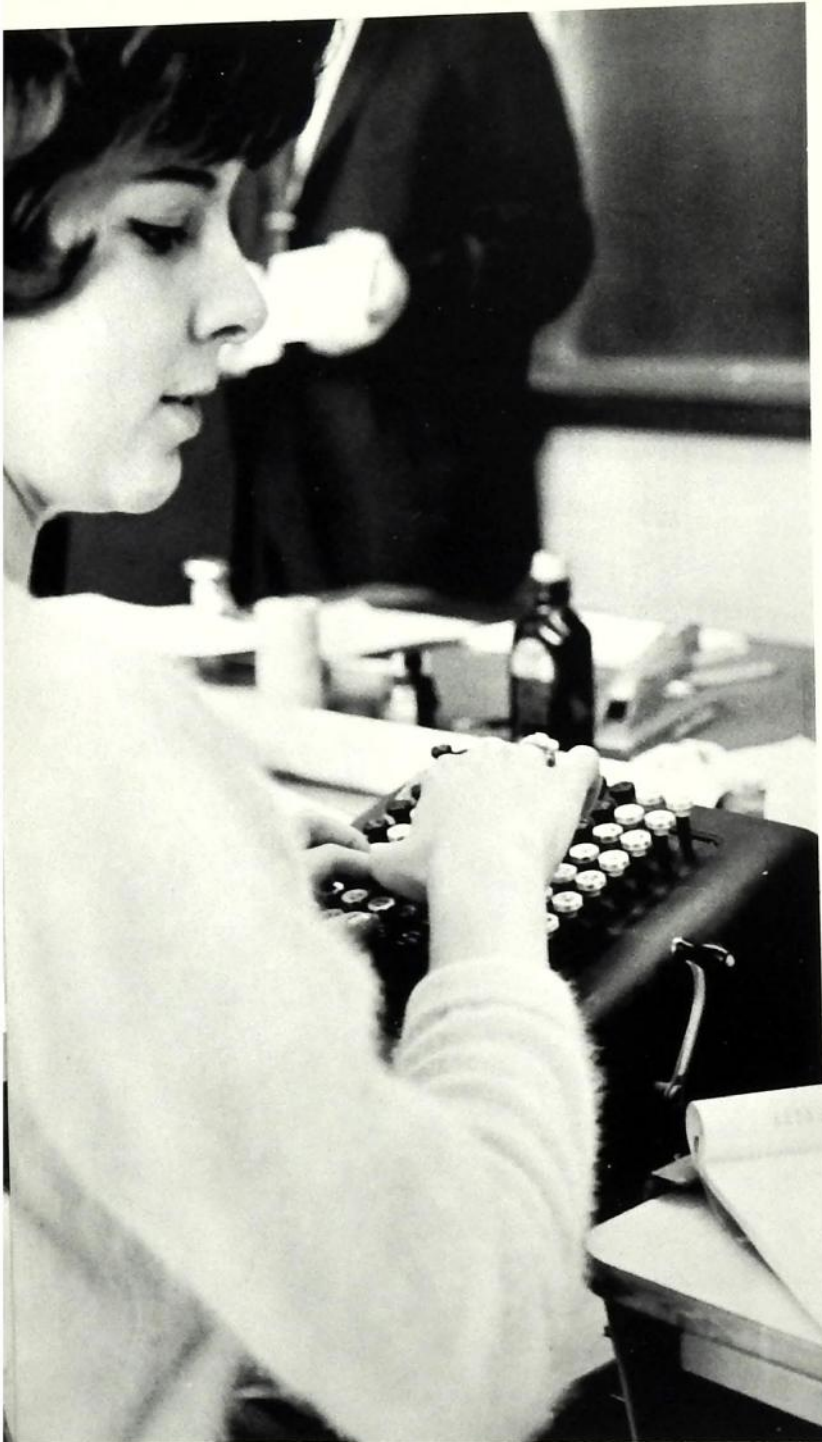

Biology, a study of all living things from bacteria to man; chemistry, a course in the properties and compounds of elements; and physics, the science of matter and motion, are some of the science courses offered.

MRS. HELEN MACKENZIE demonstrates the composition of various elements to her chemistry class with three dimensional figures.

MRS. SARAH BOYAJIAN assists Linda Urbanick in focusing a slide on the microscope.

"THIS BEATS adding mentally," thinks Helen Stevens, a business student.

ATTEMPTING TO transcribe her 120 words dictation with a minimum of errors is Colette Krejci.

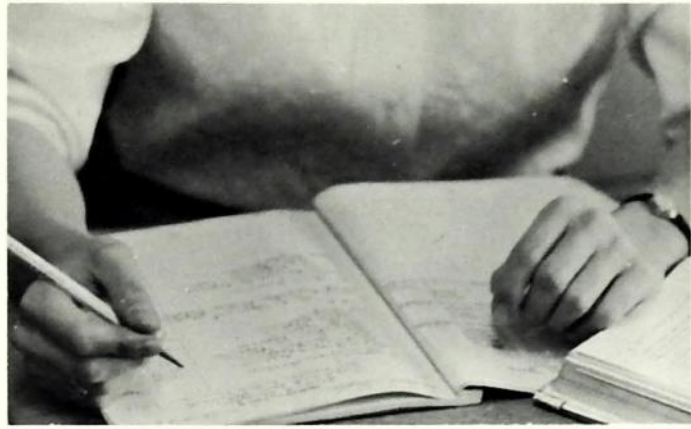

A RAPID typist must not take time to look at the keys so these typists practice speed and efficiency.

MARVENE SEBBEN removes the ditto from the mimeograph machine after running off the required number of papers.

Business Courses Create Efficiency

"Keep your feet flat on the floor, and sit up straight," is the admonition of the business teachers. Distributive Education trains students in the techniques of selling. After obtaining sufficient knowledge from classroom discussion, students are placed in positions in the business world to gain experience while earning a small wage.

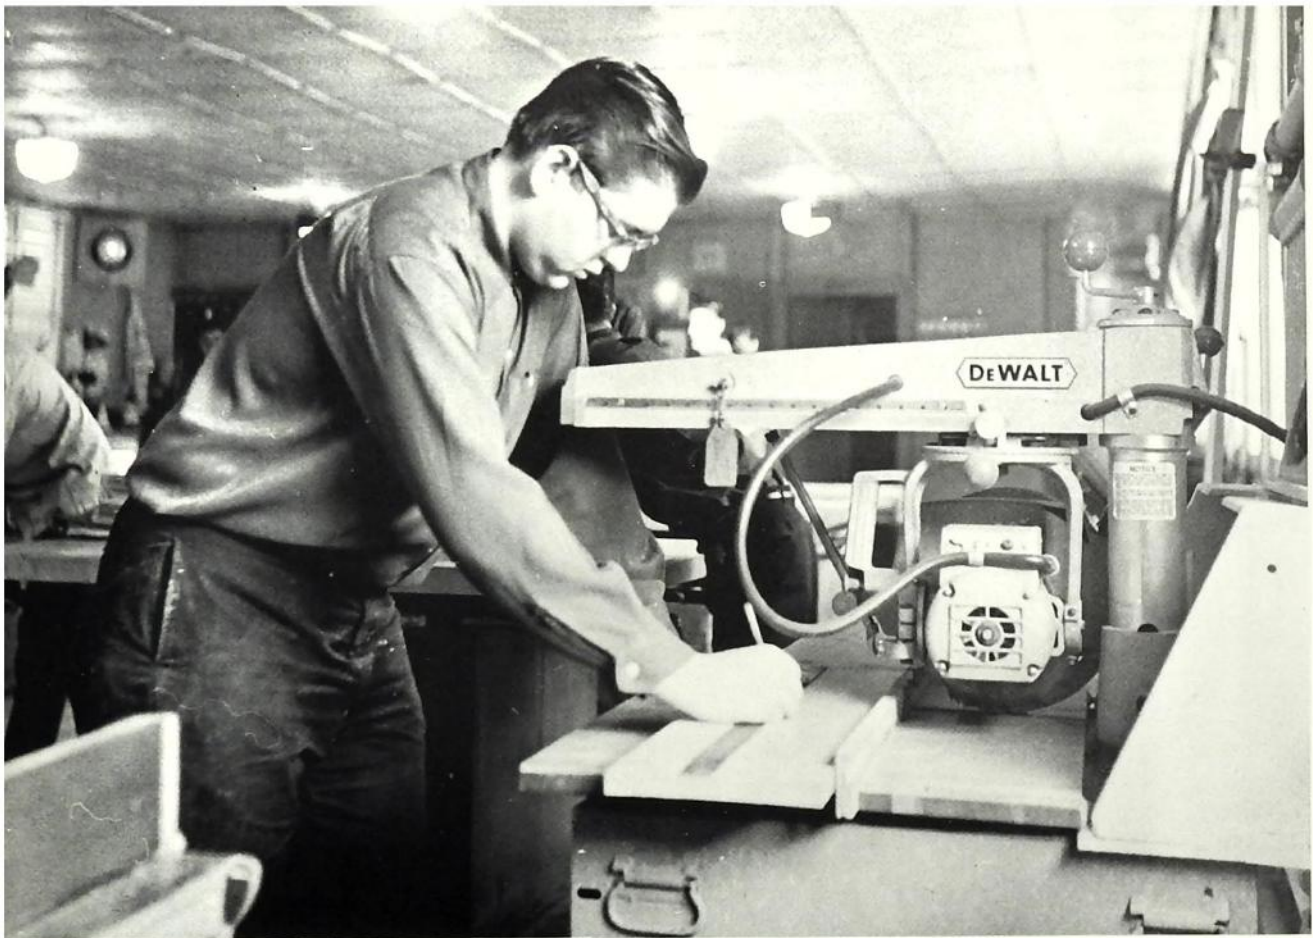

IF ANYONE ever needed an adding machine, it's this student as she adds a seemingly endless column of figures.

STUDENTS IN Distributive Education learn the fundamentals of the business world from Mr. Troah Campbell.

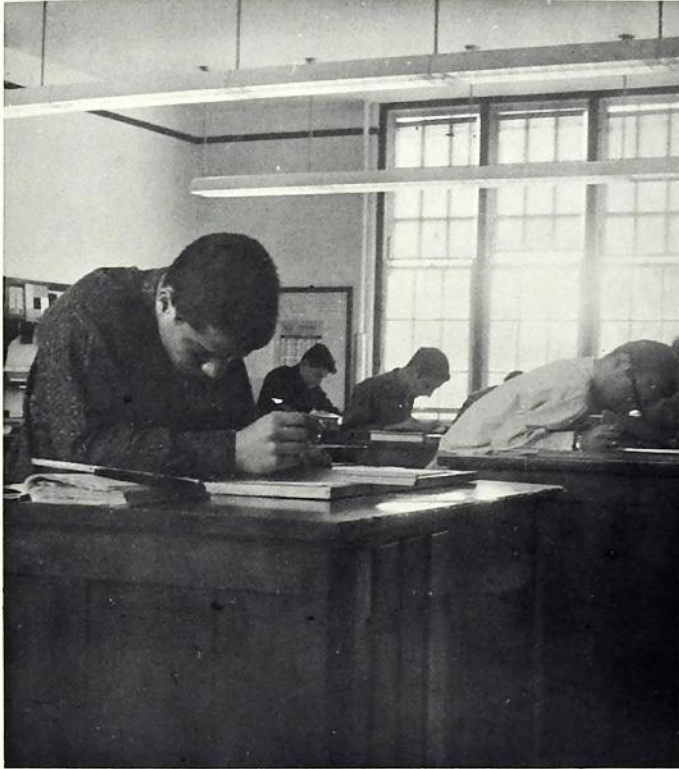

DON MAPLES measures a piece of wood before he cuts it.

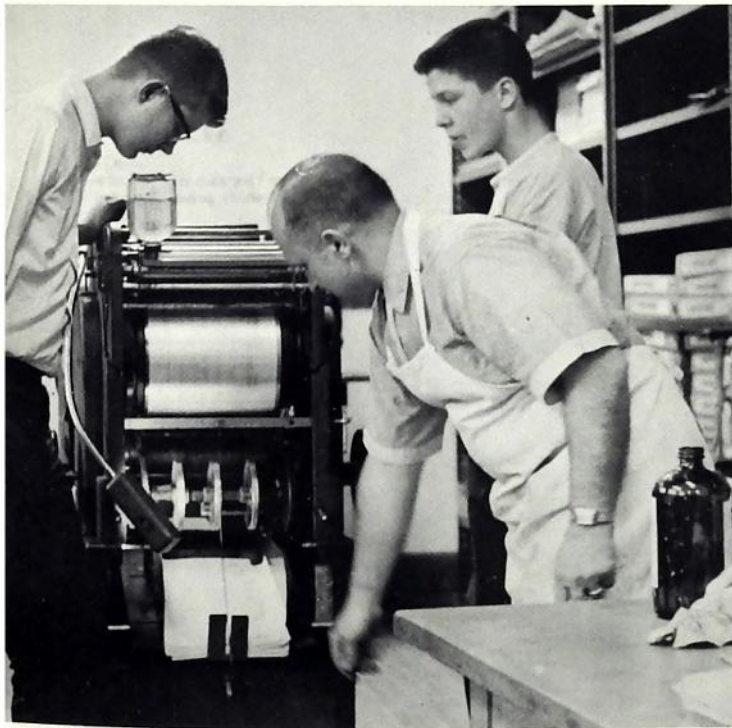

RONALD JOSEPH is tooling a leather wallet, as a project in crafts.

Vocational Trades Develop Creativity

ACCURACY COUNTS in mechanical drawing, so Ben Gatch and Steve Lesicko recheck the measurements for their projects.

LARRY MARQUARDT and Bruce Gispanski receive instructions from Mr. Joseph Mrak on how to run off calendars on the printing machine.

MR. REINHARDT TAUCK shows John Valentich how to read the micrometer gauge on a shaper.

Today a young man must be skillful with his hands. Vocational and technical shop courses offer a chance to develop skills requiring imagination and ingenuity. Working with leather, plastic, and wood taxes the artistic imagination to make attractive and useful projects. Unusual items such as plastic lamps as well as serviceable wooden lamps and shelves are a few of the products made. The boys in print shop learn the "behind the scenes" action in a publishing firm. A printing press originally used by the Gary Post Tribune was installed to facilitate printing orders. In mechanical drawing, blue prints are planned and and drawn by the steady and pricise hands of future engineers and aero-mechanics.

KATIE PEEK pins her pattern over the material as her dress begins to take shape.

"WHERE DOES the thread go now?" questions Vivian Hawrys to Bev Sheets as they try to thread a sewing machine.

Girls Learn Household Hints

Girls in the cooking classes have a headstart on the stomach versus heart maxim. During the year the girls learn to mix and measure, to plan a well-balanced diet, and to observe the rules of etiquette.

Students in beginning sewing classes learn to thread the machine, to read and choose patterns, and to select proper dress. In advanced clothing classes, students make pajamas, formal dresses, and children's clothing.

Students can prepare for their future in homemaking by taking home nursing and modern living. Home nursing aids a girl in caring for the sick, and the latter teaches her to arrange her home with taste and an eye toward beauty.

MARY E. DAVIS presses her pajamas as a last step toward her finished product.

KATIE PEEK, Kay Croll, Dolores Simion, and Brenda Horwell display new additions to their wardrobes and decorative Christmas items.

TO LEARN about child care, Judy Cunningham, Gail Hartsock, Concetta Cosola, and Harriet Day look through child care pamphlets.

MIXING INGREDIENTS in the right proportions very important in home economics as Mrs. Jean Wolverton demonstrates to Margie Adlesich and Sharon Seamon.

'JUST A little longer,' agrees Margie Adlesich with Sharon Seamon.

Art, Music Extend Cultural Horizons

Long hours of perseverance and practice are required to reach a goal in art and music classes. Potential musicians and artists spend hours perfecting their talent.

Band, orchestra, and choral groups comprise the music department. Students often stay after school to prepare for special productions such as the Christmas program, Masterworks Concert, and various plays and projects.

Weaving, pottery-making, and water-colors are just a few of the projects of the art classes. For the first time, art lectures were given to all seniors once a week during their study hall periods by Mrs. Ella Illes and Mr. Gino Burelli. Art from medieval to modern times was explained through the use of films.

WITH THE aid of an electric pottery wheel, John Hulick's skilled hands form a useful piece of pottery.

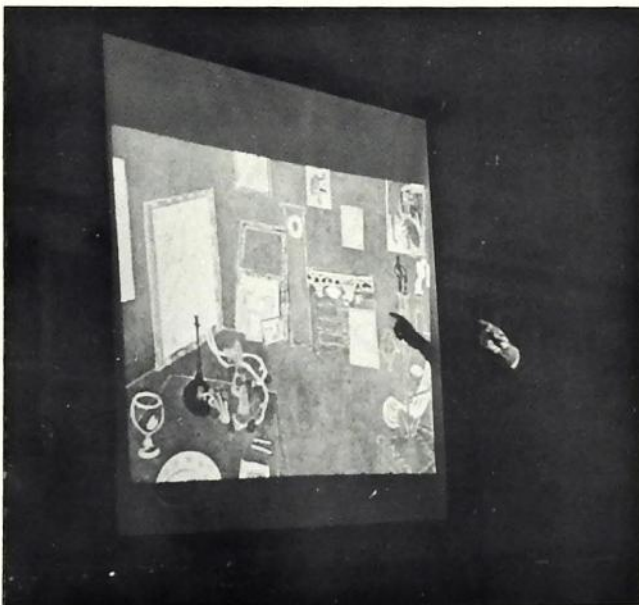

NANCY GUINEE, Linda Brewer, and Fran Ferjo are getting the display case ready to exhibit the latest projects made by high school students.

KATHY HYDO'S beautiful hooked rug nears completion after many weeks of painstaking work.

JOHN APOLOZAN, George Lash, Linda Flowers, Bob Jensen, Ken Sendre, and Tom Kehoe create this tableau in the annual Christmas production.

ART LECTURES offered to seniors every Friday during study hall were conducted with the aid of diagrams and film strips.

CAROLS FILL the air as Karen Ross, Mary Borjan, Sharron White, Janice Kos, Nancy Tichansky, and Dee Andrews put us in a Christmas mood.

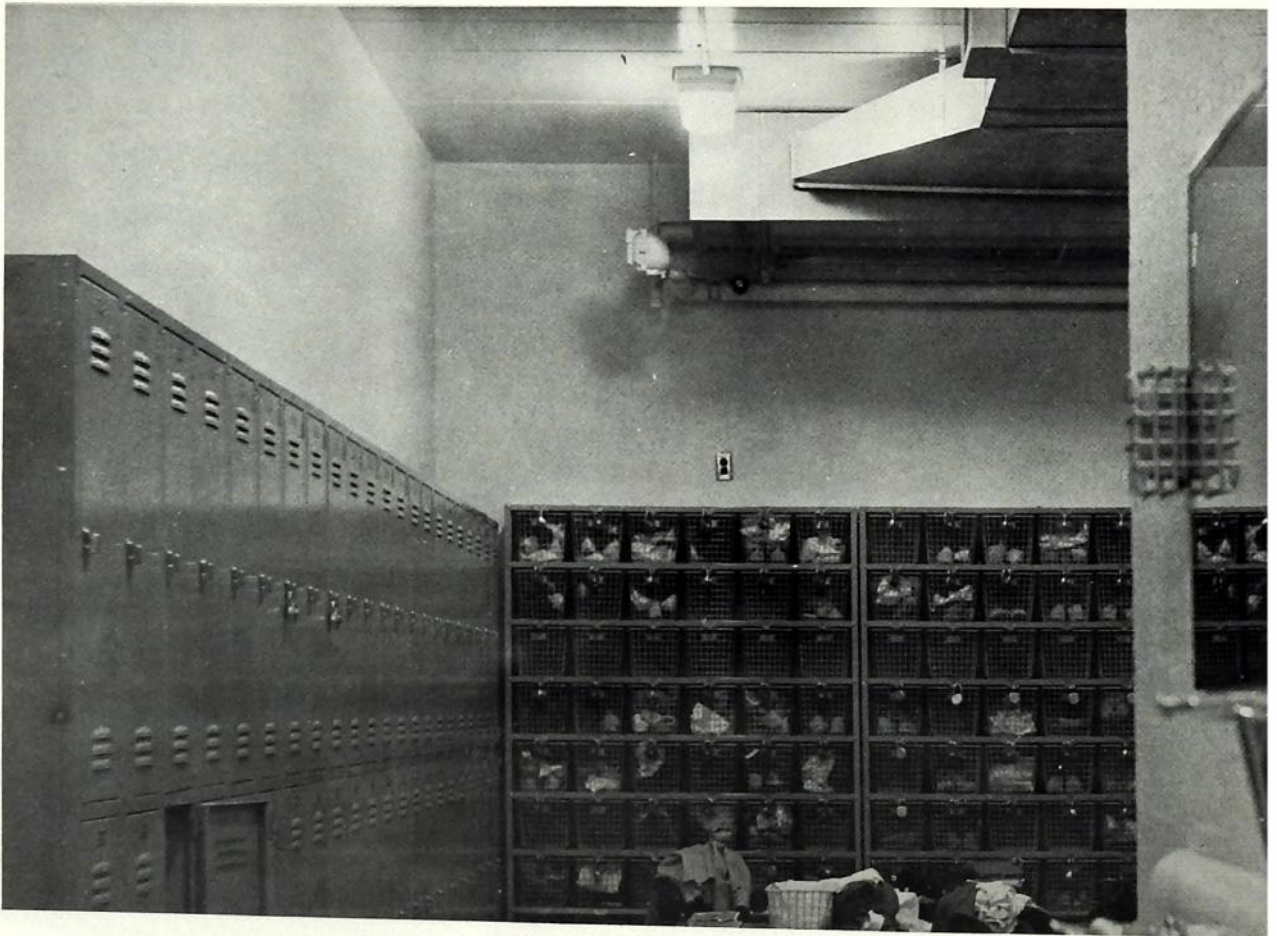

BOYS AREN'T the only ones who enjoy basketball. Girls also develop their skills.

"THE MOVEMENT should be slow and rhythmic," instructs Coach Polly to Don Fisher who attempts artificial respiration on Dave Bradach.

OUR NEW girls' shower room allows more room in the gym for activities. Clothes can be kept much neater and valuables much safer.

Phys. Ed. Stresses Health and Safety

A necessary adjunct to academic instruction provides courses in safety, physical education, health, and drivers' training.

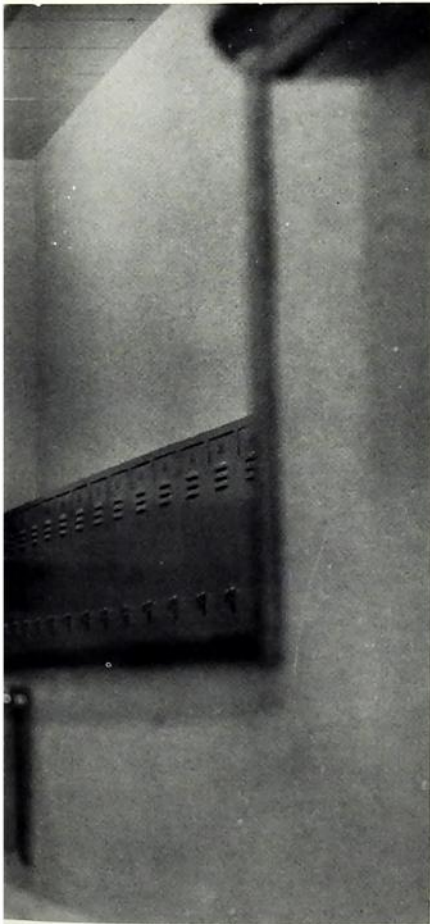

Safety teaches students safety on the road, at home, at work, and at school. Students may also take health courses which aid them in understanding how the human body functions.

In drivers' training, students become adept in driving both automatic and manual shift cars in addition to learning the safety regulations of the road.

Physical education helps to further President Kennedy's program for physical fitness through swimming, tumbling, and exercising.

TUMBLING RELAXES tense muscles and makes the boys more limber for other activities.

A VIGOROUS game of basketball gives boys a chance to relieve pressures and to improve sportsmanship.

Administration, School Board

Further Education

Lew Wallace School is not just a group of buildings. It is a place where our spiritual, cultural, and social growth is fostered and influenced.

Our principal, Mr. Donald T. Torreson, and our assistant principal, Mr. A. E. Smith, devote hours to arranging class schedules to fit the needs and interests of students. With patience and understanding, they answer the questions of confused students and parents, and they support our teams and social events.

Assisting the principals is the competent office staff which spends much time taking attendance, assigning lockers, checking credits for graduation, and copying grades on permanent files.

The faculty composed of eighty-five teachers, with B.S., B.A., M.S., M.A., and Ph.D. degrees, spend hours preparing lessons presented in classes. They have a great desire to improve our academic background and many of them sponsor organizations to aid our interests.

To help students choose programs for four years, to help decide which college to attend, to obtain jobs for students, and to organize placement and aptitude tests are some of the responsibilities handled by our guidance department.

The maintenance staff provides well-kept grounds, a neat appearance inside the school, and a well-regulated heating system. The cafeteria staff prepares meals for both students and faculty. The PTA promotes good parent-teacher-student relationships by sponsoring dances, and by providing buses for our out-of-town games. They also organize the Post-Prom party.

The school city of Gary consists of a $41,000,000 enterprise. It is ably administered by the Superintendent and his assistant. The Board of Education devotes their time to the taxpayers who provide the financial help.

The Board of Education includes Raymond F. Zale, vice-president; Samuel P. Moise; Leroy W. Bingham, president; Dena S. Adams, treasurer; and Andrew D. White, secretary.

Early Schedule Allows More Free Time

"IT CAN'T be 6:20 already. It seems as if I just went to bed!" Sleepy-eyed Thomas Thomas looks at his alarm clock in disbelief.

SNEAKING TO her locker between classes, Pat Manion takes a bite from her candy bar in order to gain energy for her next classes.

MIKE TRIPLO, Bob Peak, and Ron Potee find their way to school under the light of the early morning sun.

SCHOOL'S OUT . . .

SPENDING A leisurely afternoon at the beach, Doug Mann prepares to acquaint Susie Croll with the coolness of water.

ANXIOUS FOR their hot dogs to sizzle are Glenn Marquardt, Mary Lou Kocevar, and Wayne Eichstadt.

ANNE PYTEL and Vic Charlson gaze at the calm waters of Lake Michigan recalling all the wonderful times they have spent there this summer.

BASKING IN the warm September sun. Wayne Eichstadt and Pat Martin admire the sand dunes.

BEWILDERED BY the vastness of the empty hall, Bob Drag searches for the way to his freshman English class.

"BE SURE to tie those laces tight," commands Bob Toering as Hal Furlow obeys an upperclassman.

Numerous Problems

Six-hundred and fifty bewildered freshmen entered last fall. Adjustment to the customs, trials, and tribulations of high school wasn't easy. Freshmen Week gave the freshmen girls a chance to find and to get acquainted with their senior "big sisters" while freshmen boys were kept busy doing favors and running errands for upperclassmen.

Sophomores were astounded with the number of books they were given and it seemed each one weighed more than the other. Juniors found that along with the title of "upperclassmen" they had to accept difficult and considerably more homework. Seniors were confronted with the task of choosing and applying for college entrance or training for a job.

MRS. PATRICIA BARNES pours tea for the freshman girls and their mothers at the Mother and Daughter Tea.

PAINSTAKINGLY DECORATED boxes and dirty white socks serve as remembrances of the Sock Hop.

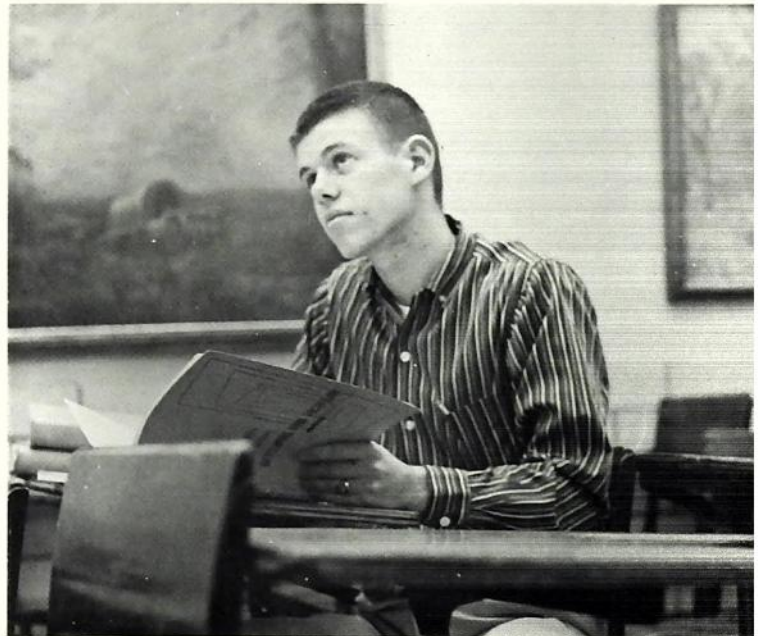

Confront Students

LOADED UP with books,
John Chlabai seeks a nice, quiet place to begin his homework.

"BUT WHAT do they mean by that little 2 in O_2^2 ?" queries Mariann Kaminski to Kathy Campbell as they look at the formula CO_2 .

DAYDREAMING ABOUT his forthcoming college days,
Bob Seibel searches through college catalogues.

Hard Work, Anxiety, Excitement Crown Homecoming Celebration

IN PREPARATION for the Homecoming game, students eagerly decorate Gilroy Stadium.

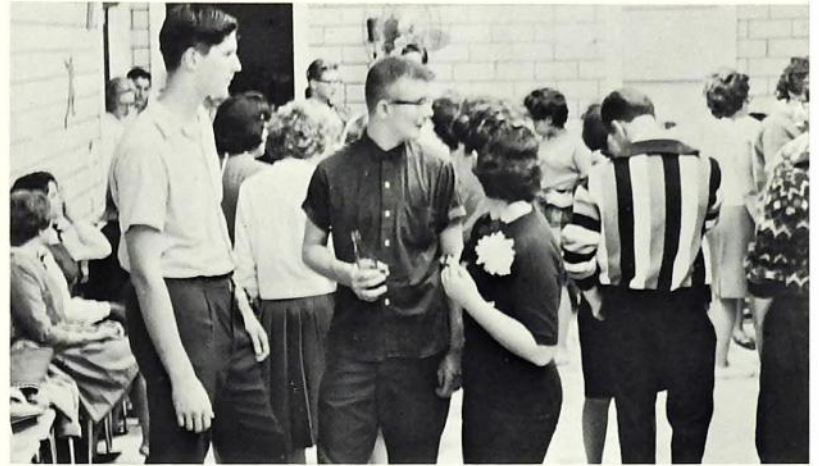

TENSION GRIPS these hopeful girls as the Hornets near the goal line.

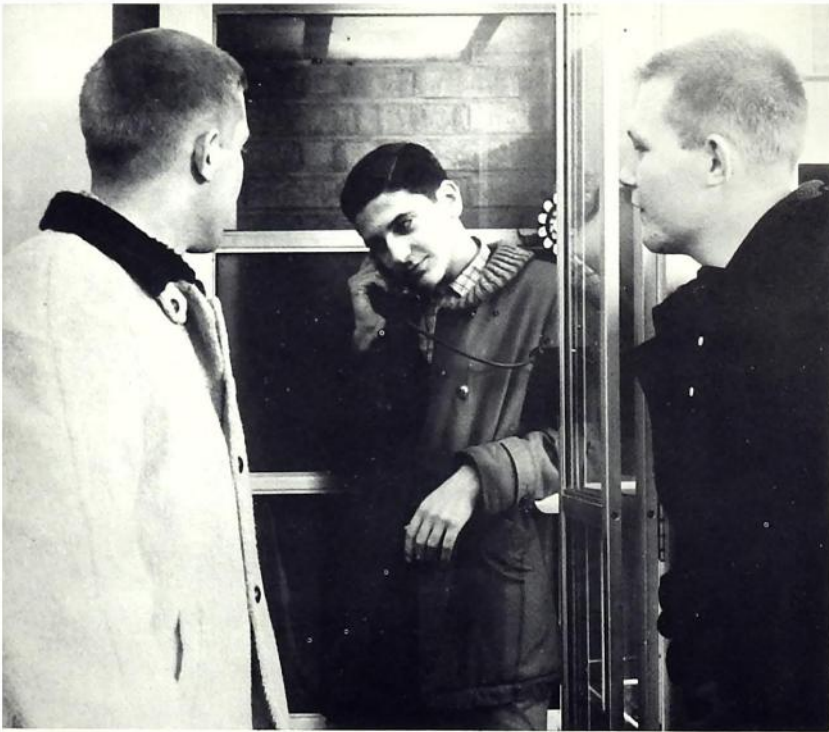

DURING HALFTIME ceremonies, Marcia Brueckheimer waits in anxiety as Glenn Marquardt, Student Council president, reaches to crown her queen.

TO CONCLUDE the Homecoming celebration, many students attend the stag dance in honor of the queen and her court.

MARCIA BRUECKHEIMER, Homecoming queen, is surrounded by her court, Rhonda Beres, Pat Cullen, Connie Robinson, and Marvene Sebben.

"BETCHA SHE'LL say no!" comment Doug DeJarnett and Jim Tidwell to John Paris as he tries to get a Friday night date.

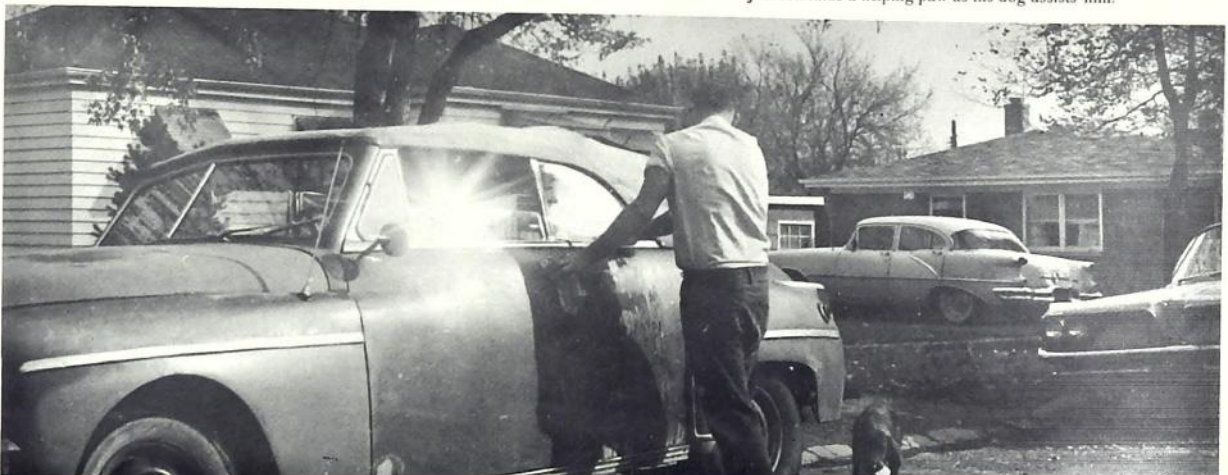

"WE WANT a touchdown now, now!" yells Pat Kraft as Paul Beaudreau tries to explain to her that Emerson has the ball.

AFTER WORKING up their appetites at a Hornet victory, Scot Jordan and Marge Roll enjoy pop and pizza.

Long-Awaited Weekends Provide Rest, Enjoyment, and Homework

WASHING HIS car for his big Saturday night date, Kip Jackson finds a helping paw as his dog assists him.

JOE BABICH and Carol Devyak spend a Saturday evening waltzing to one of the popular records at a PTA stag dance.

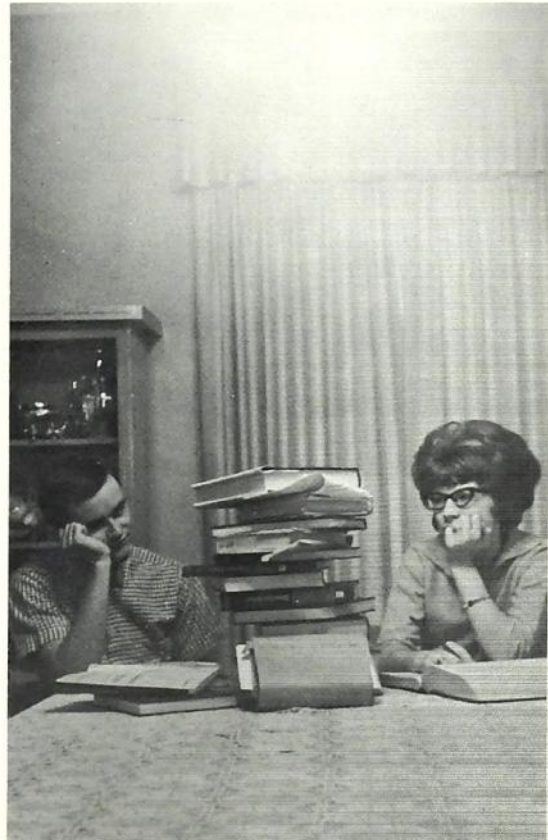

JIM EMERSON and Darlene Damian attend church services together.

UNABLE to take anymore teasing from her date, Sandy DeGaetano hopes this ball doesn't go in the gutter, too.

"WHY DIDN'T we start this earlier rather than wait until Sunday night?" Bob Stout and Karen Podrebarac face the problem of Monday morning's homework.

Winter Wonderland Brings

"STOP IT! Stop it!" cries Helene Vorkapich to Bob Hurey as he insists on washing her face with snow.

AFTER THE first snowfall, Dave Timmons, Bob Hurey, Helene Vorkapich, and Sandy Smock enjoy an old fashioned snow ball fight.

JOHN HADY and Janet Opstnik are in the holiday spirit as they patiently string popcorn.

Holiday Fun

CAROLE WALKER, Cami Cokusis, and Carol Bianchi are caught whispering in Santa's ear about what they want for Christmas.

DURING THE Christmas rush, Tom Szabo wonders if Sandy Thomas will ever run out of friends and relatives for whom to buy Christmas presents.

GETTING A sneak prevue of their gifts on Christmas Eve are Jeff Johnson and Mary Jo Boylan who just couldn't wait any longer.

Fads and Fashions Reflect Fancies

Stepping out in style, we kept up with the changing times with the new trends of fads and fashions.

Loafers, gyms, stacked heels, mohair sweaters, and A-line skirts became a necessary part of every girl's wardrobe. Continental slacks and bulky sweaters of all colors and designs were a must for the boys. Seen often on campus were the bouffant hair styles, accented with colored bows or gold clips.

For those who really wanted to change their hair color and style, wig hats were the answer. These new and different hats had their practical side because, with the arrival of cold weather and football games, they could be worn as hats.

WHEREVER SHE'S going or whatever she's doing, Marge Kucan in her mohair sweater, is right in style.

BONNIE KAY REID finds that it takes more time for her to comb her new wig hat than her own hair.

MANY KINDS of fancy footgear follow the changing trends.

IN THE know about the latest fashions are Jim Zervos and Jeanne Nichols.

SUSIE VORWALD'S bouffant hairdo is accented by two gold clips.

STUDENT COUNCIL officers Dave Horbovetz, treasurer; Par Martin, vice-president; Glenn Marquardt, president; and Rhonda Beres, secretary, discuss plans for the next meeting.

GLENN MARQUARDT, president, calls the meeting to order.

Student Council Encourages Leadership and School Unity

STUDENT COUNCIL (Front row) C. Koontz, S. Varela, B. Bastian, M. Kucan, C. Costo, C. Cokusis, C. Wilson. (Second row) C. Birdwell, L. Orlich, M. Sebben, J. Nichols, G. Burcham, TEACHERS AND student leaders chat and dine at the informal Teacher Appreciation Dinner.

Swarms of bees which interrupted the Student Council meetings flew to the right place, for the members could generally be found busily buzzing around the room. Homecoming, Inauguration, the Inaugural Ball, S.O.S. Humanity Drive, and Activity Day rounded out the traditional activities.

New projects initiated included sponsoring a Teacher Appreciation Banquet, presenting the school a plaque with names of past Student Council presidents, and giving flags to the English classrooms.

IN CASE of fire—open this sign for instructions. Linda Orlich, George Buzavis, and Larry Morgan help chairman, Rhonda Beres, complete this project.

GEORGE LASH can often be seen hanging signs in the halls. This is one of Student Council's services to the school.

THE GRAND MARCH is the highlight of the Inaugural Ball sponsored by Student Council.

MR. GEORGE ORLICH, sponsor, keeps the council members on their toes.

DAVE HORBOVETZ reaches for a coke cup while Tom Buller patiently fills one to sell to students at a football game.

DECORATING THE CHRISTMAS tree in the auditorium alcove was a project of Student Council members Tom Buller, Cynthia Dimitroff, Cami Cokusis, and Linda Mason. Canned goods for needy families were placed under the tree.

STRETCHING CREPE paper is one of the many jobs of Inaugural Ball committee heads. Mary Kay Mathews gives instructions to Larry Morgan and Cami Cokusis while Margie Kucan, Carol Koontz, Linda Komisarck, Frank Panchak, and Rhonda Beres help.

Girls' Club Extends Friendship To All Girls

"I found my little sister!
My sock matches hers!" Hours of preparation were necessary to sponsor Freshman Week, the week-long activity which acquaints all freshman girls with high school life.

Every high school girl has an opportunity to participate in Girls' Club's various projects. One may bake for the poduck, make corsages for the Christmas corsage sale, cut decorations for the Christmas stag dance, "Holiday Fantasy", give a skit for the Sing, help with the turn-a-bout, or visit the old folks' home.

Miss Dorothy Kouvelas,
Miss Ann Novak, and Mrs. Ella
Illes aided the officers in supervising their many activities.

GIRLS' CLUB MEMBERS—AT—LARGE (From row)
Bonnie Kay Reid, C. Robinson, V. Ballarino, K. Luzzi, M. Vassallo. (Second row) J. Allman, A. Mihaluk, B. Blash, M. Kucan, M. Avery. (Third row) J. Lewonuk, L. Becker, S. Zivich, E.
Kouvelas.

LAUREL BECKER discusses high school life with her "little sister," Heather Hardy. Diane Drag, Diane Soloman, and Linda Presti enjoy their box lunches.

MARY CASS awards Rita Banks a pass to the games for winning the Get Acquainted Day contest. Judy Cunningham and Lois Brock sign her booklet to add to her long list of names.

JEANNE ALLMAN shyly asks Doug Mann to the annual Girls' Club Turn-A-Bout in the spring.

MAKING CHRISTMAS corsages is a project headed by Girls' Club officers. Mary Cass, president, and Carol Buhner, vice-president, read the instructions while Mary Ann Kepchar, secretary; Nancy Recktanwall, vice-president; and Pat Olis, treasurer, start making them.

GIRLS' CLUB REPRESENTATIVES

Boys Organize To Further Interests, Support Lettermen

Running a line-a-type machine, setting type, and operating an automatic press fills the time of Pica Club members. The boys under the direction of Mr. Joseph Mrak awarded to an outstanding senior a composing stick with his name engraved in gold, and also printed calenders, programs, and prom bids.

Raffling off a shotgun may be a little unusual, but for Club "W" it was a means of making money to help purchase jackets for the lettermen. Any boy who earned a major or minor letter was eligible for the club. Coach Richard Polk with the help of the other coaches sponsors the organization.

MR. JOSEPH MRAK explains to Larry Marquardt how to compose on the inter-type machine as Ron Lenaburg, president, Casimar Zulkowsky, Charles Pazera, Jerry Simpson, Ron Torres, Ron Kacir, Bill Mitchell, Ken Michalik, Bob Rukavina, Terry Alvarado, and Ted Kinnis listen attentively.

CLUB "W" (Front row) B. Stout, B. Hurey, S. Lazarro, G. Kos, T. Miller, M. Orlich, D. Dulla, T. Szabo, J. Forgey. (Second row) J. Stark, T. Herbert, J. Paris, D. Hodurski, D. Moke, G. Wilk, D. Fisher, S. Kurowski,

S. Jordan. (Third row) C. Wheeler, S. Horvath, D. Tokarski, T. Seepers, F. Grubar, J. Grube, E. Tefeau, J. Armato, L. Marquardt, R. Taylor, R. Hurey, B. Welch.

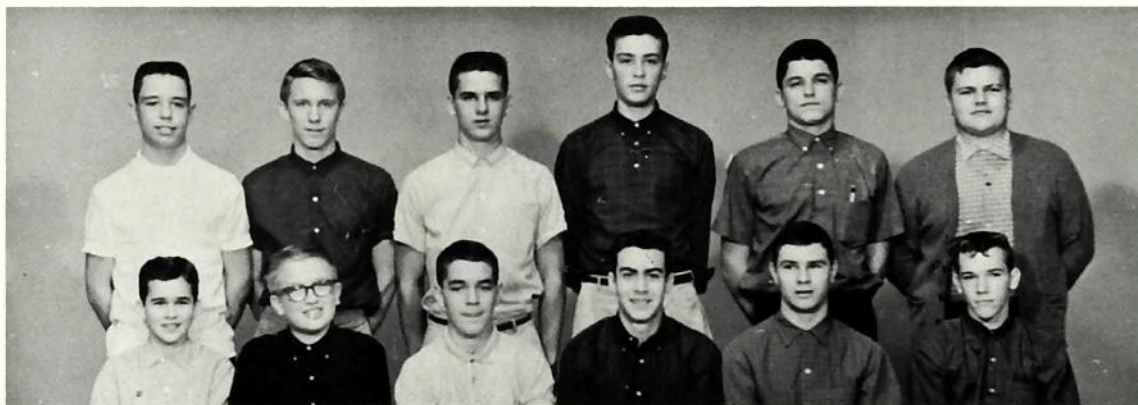

Efforts of Boys' Club Build Enthusiasm

Rah!-Rah!-Rah!-Rah!-Rah!-- echoed through Memorial Auditorium as the boisterous voices of Boys' Club members cheered their team. They sold football pennants and posted a huge game board schedule in front of the school which increased school spirit and brought the students' attention to basketball and football games.
For the first time the group attended professional hockey games. Also members of the club competed against each other in organized bowling teams.

BOYS IN the cheering block anticipate the next move on the basketball court.

(Front row) J. White, J. Vogt, D. Watkins, J. Fernandez, J. Blake, J. Cook. (Second row) W. Moore, G. Wilk, D. Moke, J. White, F. Lazzaro, C. Wheeler.

BILL HELFRICH, president, and Terry Evans, vice-president, pose in front of the trophy case in which some of the Boys' Club bowling trophies stand.

Booster Club Stimulates Spirit by Backing Teams

"HORNETS", RONI Jelusich, Caryl Brueckheimer, Carole Gaydos, and Mary Lou Kocovar begin to paint on this sign which will decorate Gilroy Stadium.

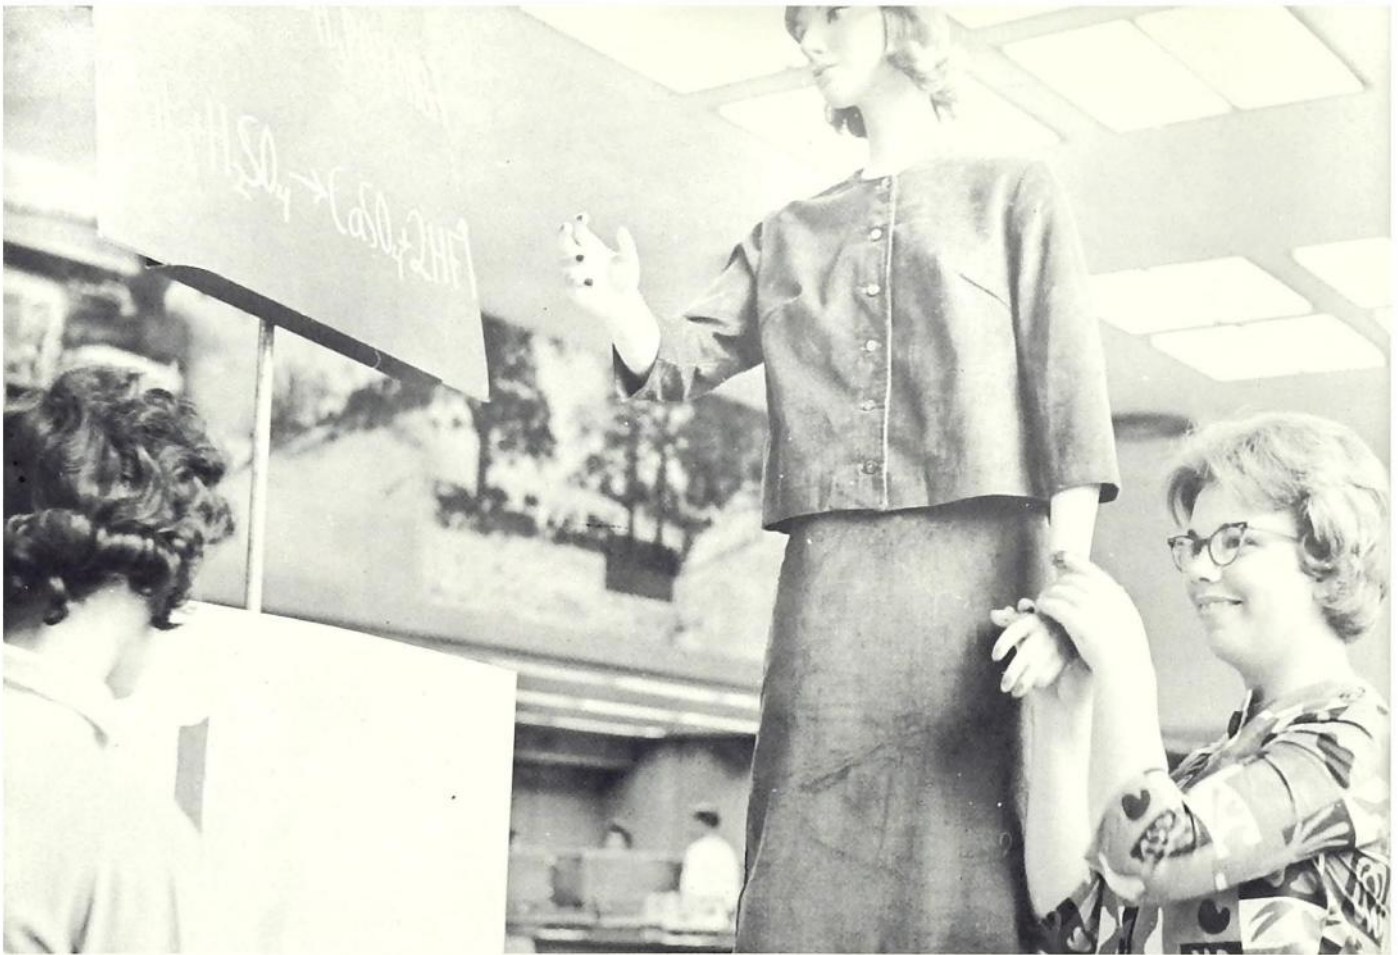

BETTY LOU COOK, Mary Ann Thompson, Gloria Chiabai, and Marcia Brueckheimer, officers of Booster Club, boost school spirit at games.

"Is that sign really six feet by one-hundred feet?"
 "Yes! Just ask any of the girls who slaved over it during the summer."
 Decorating Gilroy Stadium for Homecoming was the first job of the year. The huge sign was only one of the projects on which Booster Club worked in preparation for the event.
 Royal boxes were made for the queen and her court and were set off by large aluminum crowns.
 Organizing a cheering block for basketball season and holding cheering practices every week kept school spirit high. Members of the block wore white blouses when they attended home games.
 Megaphones were sold during football and basketball season to increase cheering power and provide funds for extra activities.
 A stag dance and a Turn-A-Bout in January were the major social activities.
 Miss Angela Hannagan and Miss Patricia Gordon are the sponsors.

LINDA KIRKPATRICK, a member of the Cheering Block, practices at a Monday meeting.

LINDA GOURLAY and Barbara Blash create a display of a "Teacher" demonstrating chemical equations for National Education display.

F.T.A. Directs Members Toward Teaching

PLACING APPLES in the teachers' boxes was the first activity of FTA officers, Carole Gyure, president, Norma Wilson, vice-president, Harriet Day, historian, Virginia Ballarino, secretary, and Barb Markowicz, treasurer.

Candle light filled the auditorium lending solemnity to the Future Teachers of America induction. An invitation was extended to parents of inductees to attend the formal initiation in the fall.

Members also attended a "roundup" at Highland High School where they heard guest speakers discuss various fields of teaching.

Selling stationery and sponsoring stag dances raised money to finance a trip to Indiana University at Bloomington, Indiana. A farewell party for the seniors ended the year.

Mrs. Barbara Gibson and Mrs. Dorothy Binau sponsor the club.

MARY NEWPORT installs Karen Vician and Diane Wozniak into FTA by pinning them with ribbons of the club's colors.

MARY E. DAVIS explains the legislative department of the United States to the class. Teaching junior high students for one day was a new activity this year.

PLANNING MOVIES and dramatic readings for the meetings was the job of Connie Robinson, Pat Olis, Karen Vician, Judy Vician, and Mary Cass.

White Caps Render Service Both to School And to Community

MYRTA RIVERA, Lois Berglund, Donna Wimset, Marsha Little, Judy Cunningham, and Darlene Komaneck wrap packages for orphans at Christmas time.

CAROL WAITE, Lois Brock, Joan Yarrington, and Terry Anselmo are wheeling a cart into a room at Methodist Hospital. They serve as candy strippers.

DOROTHY ZONE, Cheryl Blackwell, Sylvia Roszkowski, and Phyllis Chornack sell ballpoint pens to raise money for the club activities.

KATHY IVANY and Linda Moore collect nylons for the blind.

Touring the Indianapolis Medical Center, Christmas carolling at hospitals, and candy-stripping at Gary hospitals are only a few of the activities of White Caps.

Sponsors are Mrs. Margaret Swisher, R.N., Mrs. Kathleen Shults, and Mrs. Helen Penny.

Members of Biology Club are encouraged in their studies of natural science by assembling insect collections, charts, and models.

Lectures, field trips, the spring picnic, and parties are under the direction of Miss Lola Lemon, sponsor.

Weekly trips to the Sky-Hi Riding Club and a trip to the International Horse Show were highlights of the newly organized Equestrians. Members were encouraged to develop interest and appreciation of good horsemanship. Equestrians is the first and only riding club in the city.

BEVERLEY GRADEN, president, Donna Stalowy, vice-president, Lois Brock, secretary, Sandy Cox, attendance secretary, and Carol Waite, treasurer, plan the next meeting.

Biology Club Explores Natural Sciences

ROSEMARIE BRUNO, president, Louise Lasayko, treasurer, Marsha Bradon, secretary, and Linda Holley, vice-president, examine nature's wonder.

Equestrians Organize

EQUESTRIANS WATCH riding and jumping demonstrations while learning different techniques. Many members had mastered the fundamentals of jumping hurdles before spring had come.

VIC CHARLSON, Equestrians president, explains some of the tactics of horsemanship to the members.

Language Clubs

Induct New Members, Carry on Activities

"EL BURRO" occupies the center of attraction as Linda Orlich, secretary, Connie Robinson, president, and John Rosco, vice-president, discuss the next meeting.

ENJOYING REFRESHMENTS at the induction are Judy Vician, Linda Orlich, Gee Gee Burcham, Karen Sielski, Louise Partee, and Janice Ritter.

FRANK CAMMARATA and Janice Ritter dance the Mexican Hat Dance while Jean Kadish, Coleen Bryson, Marsha Bradon, Louise Lasayko, and Connie Robinson clap in rhythm.

Este socio ahora empezara.
(This meeting will now come to order.)
These were familiar words to Club Hispania members, as all meetings were conducted in Spanish. For their Christmas party the usual foods were abandoned for Mexican tacos and enchiladas which highlighted the menu. Also at Christmas time, a pinata filled with toys and candy was made for an orphanage.

Miss Mary Joy Bindas, Spanish teacher, sponsors the club.

SELLING TAFFY APPLES are Olympians Shirley Zivich and Al Hasara.

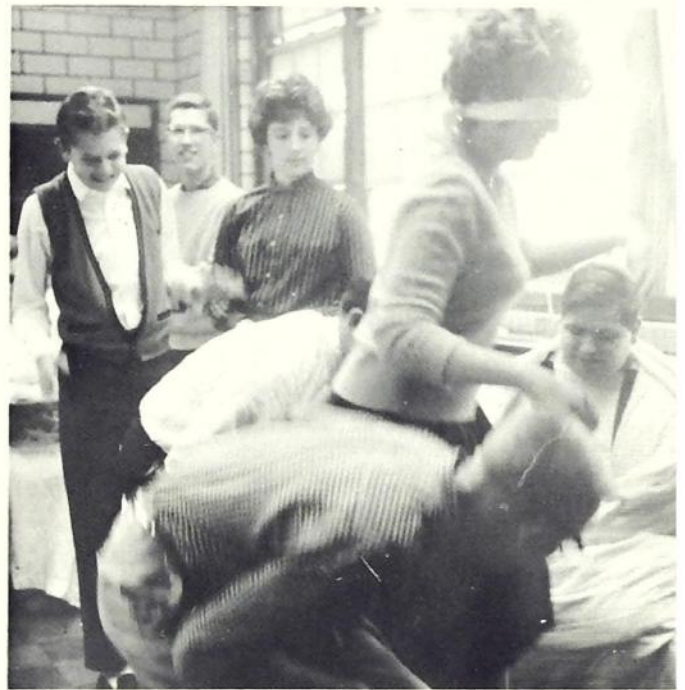

"ALL ROADS lead to Rome," says Michael McCarney, president, as he points out Rome on the map to his other officers, Alice Roberts, secretary, and Georgeann Mandich, vice-president.

Crawling blindfolded beneath the Colossium while "gladiator's blood" dripped slowly down his neck was only part of what a new Olympian endured. After being sold as slaves to old members, the inductees were accepted as Olympians.

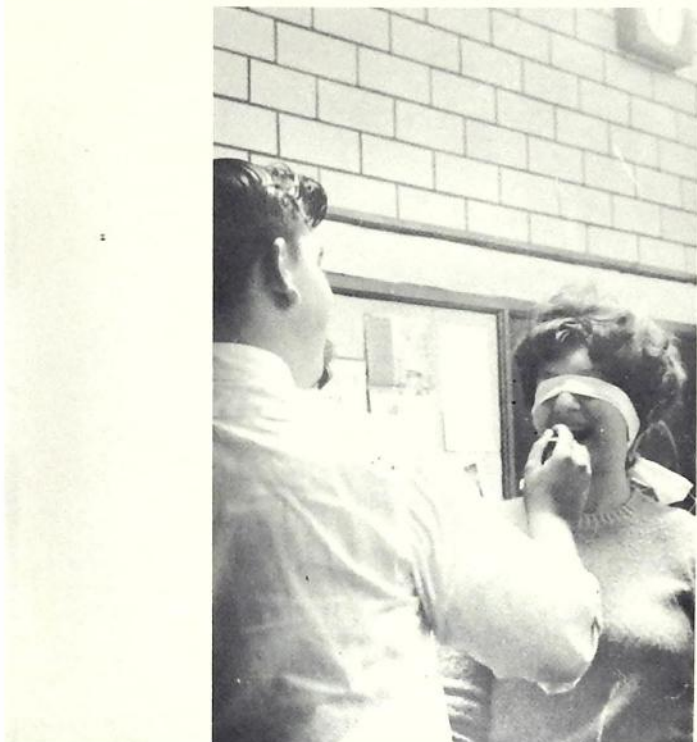

Later in the year skits were planned and presented at the annual city-wide Latin Conference.

Awarding a scholarship to a third year student for the Latin institute at Bloomington is an outstanding activity.

Miss Agnes McLean assumes responsibility for the club.

"NOW JUMP!" order Olympians Charles Birdwell, Frank Panchak, and Hope Hills to Judy Feinberg as she leaps off the "plank" at the induction.

"UGH!" says Judy Feinberg as Al Hasara feeds her ambrosia and nectar during initiation.

PRESENTING A SKIT at the Inkpot meeting are Karen Podrebarac, Toni Bosse, Linda Komisarck, Mary Ann Kepchar, Mary Kay Mathews, Sandy DeGaetano, and Terry Olls.

INKPOT OFFICERS Roni Jelusich, president, Betty Lou Cook, treasurer, Caryl Brueckheimer, vice-president, and Marcia Brueckheimer, secretary, read stories submitted by potential members.

Skits, Books, Plays Fill Inkpot Agenda

A skit, "The Little Witch That Really Tried", highlighted the induction of new Inkpot members. Members were chosen on the basis of a composition judged by officers and sponsor.

As a literary club, the thirty-six members give book reports, have panel discussions, and prepare skits as part of their monthly meetings. A distinguishing feature of the club is that the meetings take place at the homes of the members. The annual trip to Chicago to see a stage play widens the members' cultural interests.

Special projects include Christmas carolling at Mercy Hospital and the senior farewell banquet given by the junior members in May.

SENIORS Rhonda Beres, Leslie Platak, Carole Gaydos, Mary Lou Kocovar, Judy Hodges, and Marion Avery caroll at Christmas time.

Auditorium Managed by Council and Crew

PULLING THE ROPES backstage for performances is one of the jobs of the Stage Crew members, W. Blanton, N. Maroudas, E. Agnew, A. Madson, D. Fossey, B. Elwood, and D. Wirick.

When the curtain opens and the stage is set, little thought is given to the hours of backstage work involved. The stage crew members assumed the responsibility for operating the lights, drawing the curtains, and supplying needed props for all stage performances.

Collection of tickets, passing out programs, and assurance that the audience is seated are functions and services rendered by Auditorium Council members.

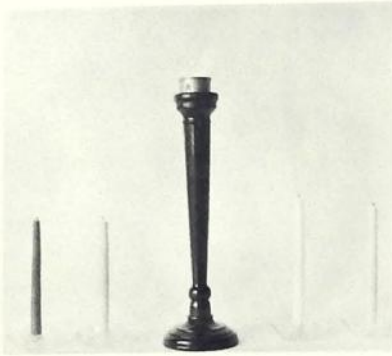

This club, the oldest at Wallace, bids farewell to its senior members by honoring them at a spring banquet.

PASSING OUT PROGRAMS for a performance are Auditorium Council officers, Mari Borjan, treasurer; Jean Jasper, lead usher; Barbara Bastian, president; Norma Wilson, secretary; and Rhonda Beres, vice-president.

AUDITORIUM COUNCIL (Front row) B. Mack, L. Orlich, K. Kocek, K. Pazak, C. Tanner, G. Durbin, M. Ward, C. Gersack. (Second row) Mrs. Mattie Hannsz, M. Dendy, L. Jensen, T. Burchett, G. Burcham, E. Weeks, K. Simciak, D. Andrews, H. Tokarski, K. Ivany. (Third row) S. Zivich, J. Lewontuk, M. Cass, M. Kepchar, C. Svetanoff, B. Baranko, C. Piet.

A FLAMING TORCH and four candles symbolize character, leadership, scholarship, and service, the National Honor Society requirements.

ORDERING THEIR Senior Honor Society pins are Louise Pattee, Andrea Cokusis, Trina Tyler, Janice Thompson, Linda Komisarck, Tom Buller, Mary Cass, Carole Gyure, Caryl Brueckheimer, and Judy Vieian.

National Honor Society Selects Top Students

SENIOR HONOR SOCIETY (Front row) M. L. Davis, M. Avery, L. Komisarck, J. Laudien, A. Cokusis, C. Gyure, J. Thompson. (Second row) M. Cass, J. Hodges, J. Vieian, C. Brueckheimer, L. Pattee. (Third row) M. McCarney, J. Randolph, T. Buller. M. K. Mathews was not present for the picture.

Signing his name to the file of past members officially enrolls a new inductee into the National Senior Honor Society. Students are elected on the basis of character, leadership, scholarship, and service.

Thirty students attaining a 3.0 average or above were the honor graduates.

REACHING FOR The Great Books of the Western World are Judy Hodges, secretary, Mary L. Davis, president, Michael McCarney, vice-president, and Mary Kay Mathews, treasurer.

POSTING THE HONOR ROLL for the grade period are Joe Randolph, Marion Avery, and Judy Laudien.

MR. DONALD T. TORRESON, principal, announces to Mary L. Davis and Marion Avery that they have achieved the honor of being valedictorian and salutatorian with respective indexes of 3.889 and 3.824.

TOBIE TURNER, Linda Orlich, and Frank Panchak are the members who participate in the psychology and biology sections of the Joe Berg Seminar.

RICH ORACHEFF, Bill Dinwoodie, Georgeann Mandich, and Frank Panchak discuss a math equation for the Joe Berg classes.

MARY DAVIS and Pete Vasil look over the advanced reading material as part of their research for the literature class of Joe Berg.

Students Participate in City-Wide Seminars

MEMBERS OF the World Affairs Forum, Georgeann Mandich, Carole Gyure, Shirley Zivich, and Frank Panchak participate in a round table discussion.

Ten Wallace students reserved their Wednesday evenings for experiments and lectures at Joe Berg Seminar meetings. Our students, along with students from the other high schools, were divided into classes to study psychology, mathematics, biology, chemistry, and literature.

New candidates are selected in the spring by Mr. Dale Weingart, guidance counselor, on the basis of interest in advanced study.

African problems, the common market, and the tax cut are a few of the problems World Affairs Forum debated this year. The students read newspaper and magazine articles in preparation for the monthly debates of the city-wide organization.

The Wallace chapter sponsored a dinner at the end of the year attended by eight other high school chapters. Miss Shirley Bryan is the advisor for the group.

Quill and Scroll, Thespians Honor Members

With page layouts, news stories, and yearbook copy, journalism students demonstrated outstanding abilities to qualify for Quill and Scroll, an international honorary society. The Wallace chapter elected officers and initiated new members in the spring. Mrs. Kathryn Welsh sponsors the organization.

Members of the dramatic arts honorary society, Thespians, helped with school plays and presentations in the auditorium. Attending plays and productions merits points for acceptance.

READING THE Quill and Scroll Charter are Carole Gaydos, vice-president, Karen Thomas, president, and Betty Lou Cook, secretary-treasurer.

QUILL AND SCROLL members Mariann Kopko, Pat Cullen, Linda Komisarcik, Janice Thompson, Caryl Brueckheimer, Judy Vician, Rhonda Beres, Leslie Piatak, and Marcia Brueckheimer meet to discuss plans for the spring induction.

THESPIANS (Front row) G. Verplank, S. Gnemi, I. Berglund, D. Wimsett, J. Jasper, T. Burchett, C. Fisher. (Second row) K. DalPra, C. Svetanoff, J. Blake, G. Greenbaum, K. Jakovac, Mrs. Mattie Hannsz. (Third row) S. Svetich, C. Svetanoff, T. Serynek, E. Agnew, N. Tichansky, L. Orlich.

APPLYING MAKE-UP is one way to earn credit for Thespians. Lois Berglund, Donna Wimsett, Gretchen Verplank, Christine Svetanoff, and Sharon Gnemi.

ROTC Trains Boys for Armed Forces

"Forward march!--Hup, two, three, four!" ordered the commander of the ROTC to the Drill Team. Supervising crowds at athletic events, raising the flag each morning, and representing the school at parades were a few of the duties of the Reserve Officers Training Corps.

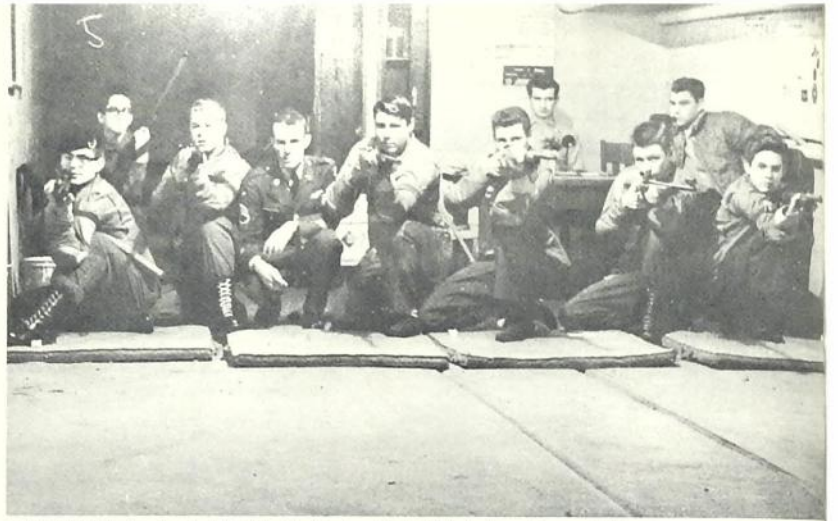

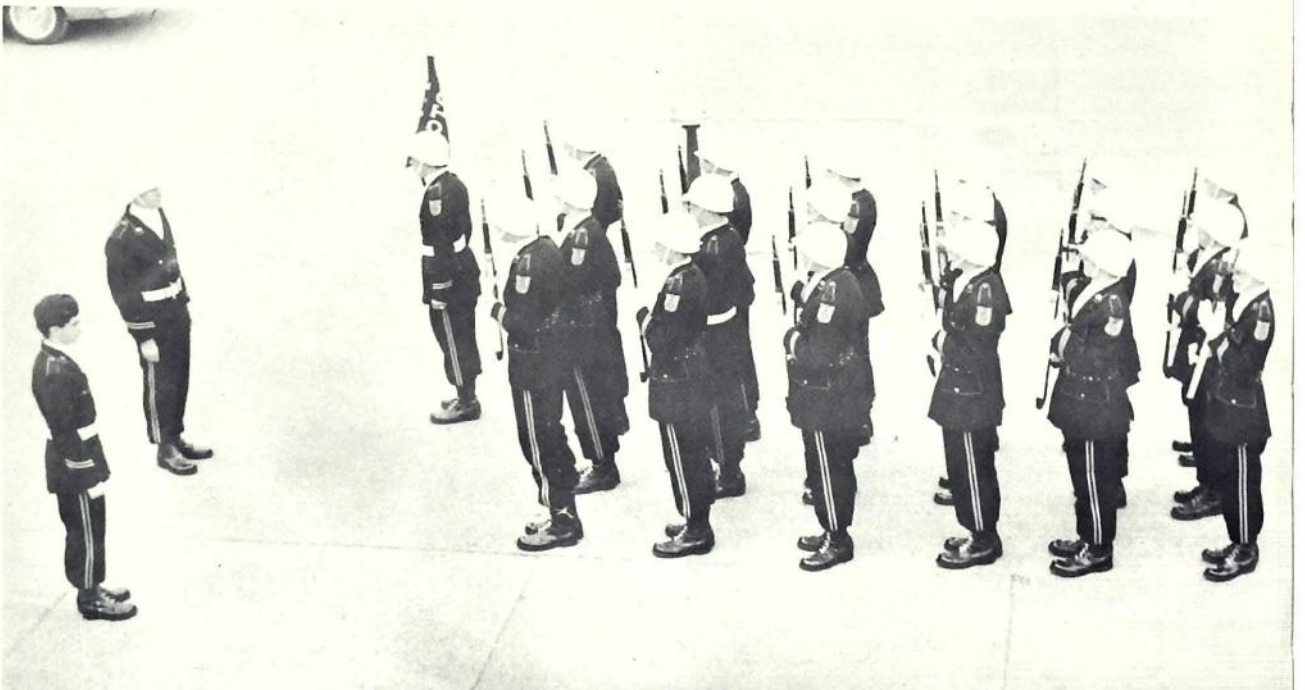

The Christmas Dance and the city-wide Military Ball were the social activities of the year.

Presenting awards and decorations concluded the year.

HONORARY CADETS, Judy Hodges, Pat Cullen, and Nancy Razus, help plan the social functions for the ROTC.

"HALT!" bellows the commander to his Drill Team.

GET READY, take aim, fire! Bob Martin, Stanley Scholl, Melvin Fagg, Sergeant Robert Hicks, Joe Nicholson, Ben Saims, Tony Nokovic, Bill Carper, Ted Uzela, and Tom Harrison practice for the rifle team.

ROTC MAJORS, Bill Fagg, Don Northcutt, Ted Drieser, Paul Beaudreau, and Bob Martin, spend most of their day in the ROTC room.

ENGROSSED IN a good game of chess are Mary Lynn Drozda, Floyd Zula, Gail Alexander, and Jean Kadish at the front table. John Sovich, John Povlinski, Jan Vanderwall, Vincent Daniels, Dennis Voris, Bill Bense, and Bob Wagner are at the middle table.

PONDERING THEIR next move are Chess Club officers John Modos, treasurer, Mary Leon, vice-president, Steve Bartosh, president, John Cole, secretary. Mr. Paul Pieroni, sponsor, looks on.

SPARK GAP editors, Gene Bobik, Sidney Spector, Larry Morgan, John Blake, and Rocky Cifalia write copy for the next issue.

"I READ YOU," says Harris Herschman while Ron Cristallo and John Scott help send messages over the two wave radio.

Chess, Radio Clubs Enrich Free Time

Pondering the next move requires deep concentration as many Chess Club members discovered.

Besides having tournaments and teams, the club sponsored trampoline and toboggan parties. Morse Code classes for students interested in learning codes to obtain their amateur licenses was a new project of Radio Club, sponsored by Mr. Elmer Molchan.

GEE GEE BURCHAM, secretary, and Glenn Busby, treasurer, take time out to talk with Rich Oracheff, president, and Mr. Elmer Molchan, sponsor.

Rat-a-tat-tat! Boom-boom-boom!
 The band marched across the field for half-time performances at all home football games to add spirit and excitement. In addition to presenting a Christmas and a Spring Concert, members entered State Music Contests and marched in city parades. Money was raised through a magazine drive. At the end of the year the group joined the Concert Orchestra in a picnic. Majorettes added a special touch to the band with original twirling routines.

WITH THE referee's whistle indicating the beginning of the game, Wallace kicks off.

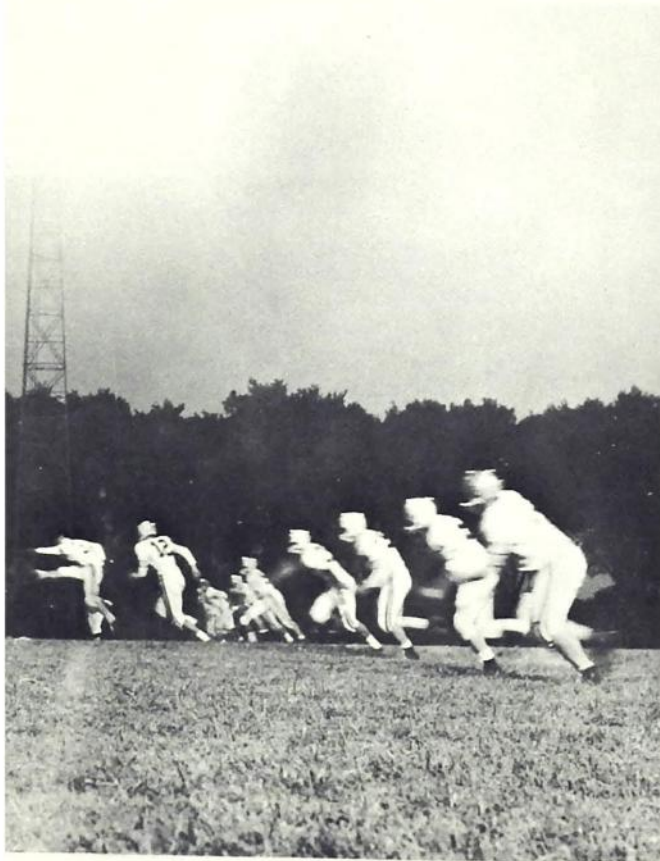

THUNDERING OUT on the field, the enthusiastic Hornets are prepared to meet their next opponent.

Gridmen Rank 2nd In City, W-NIHSC

Opening their season against Emerson in the Football-O-Rama, the Hornets used the tactics which they had learned in summer practice. Many hours of conditioning were necessary to shape up the Wallace squad which placed 2nd in both the conference and the city.

After blanking Valpo 13-0, the Hornets met the Horace Mann squad which dealt them a heart-breaking 26-20 defeat. Not letting defeat keep them down, however, the gridmen romped to a 39-13 victory over the Froebel Blue Devils. Rough, tough, sock 'em football was illustrated in the E. C. Roosevelt game. In their most outstanding defensive game, the Hornets, led by co-captains Joe Luzzi and Fred Grubar, matched the Rough Riders on every play, ending with a 13-13 tie.

Crown Point's stadium was the scene of the gridmen's last battle when they defeated the Bulldogs 20-6. As the season came to an end, a 4-2-3 record was registered in the school's football history.

Beginners Gain Prowess By Experience

WALLACE'S INGENIOUS offense fakes out these Raiders as they attempt to tackle the 'ball carrier'.

"Experience is the best teacher" is a maxim which is well-known to our reserve and freshmen gridmen. These determined boys, under the guiding hands of Coaches Larry Martin and George Rykovich, learned the techniques which will help to make them the future varsity.

Fighting their way to a 13-0 victory over Horace Mann highlighted the reserve season which was marked by a 3-3 record. Spirits ran high as these reservists closed their season by chalking up a whopping 26-0 win over Crown Point's Bulldogs.

Potential was also evident among our freshman gridgers as they ran and tackled their way to a 3-3 record. Combining their talent with the sophomores, they dropped Crown Point 33-14, while suffering a defeat at the hands of Valpo. The boys showed their stuff in the hard-fought game against Emerson which they won 19-0.

AS THE gun sounds, the boys begin the grueling two mile journey.

LEADING THE pack, this tired harrier crosses the finish line.

Because of the early morning schedule, practice for the Hornet harriers was altered this year. They witnessed the abolition of grueling, early morning practices and the rise of 12:00 noon workouts.

Tutored by Coach Richard Polk, this young team used his guidance to better themselves. Led by outstanding runners Henry Kirkilewski, Emilio Ramos, and Mike Herman they finished the season 6th in the city and 11th in conference.

With all the boys on the present team returning next year, Coach Polk is looking forward to their next season.

January Started Conditioning Of Cindermen

Running the 880 in 1:54 flat requires hours of intensive training and conditioning as any of our cindermen will readily testify.

Beginning in January, the boys transformed our corridors into tracks in an effort to improve their speed.

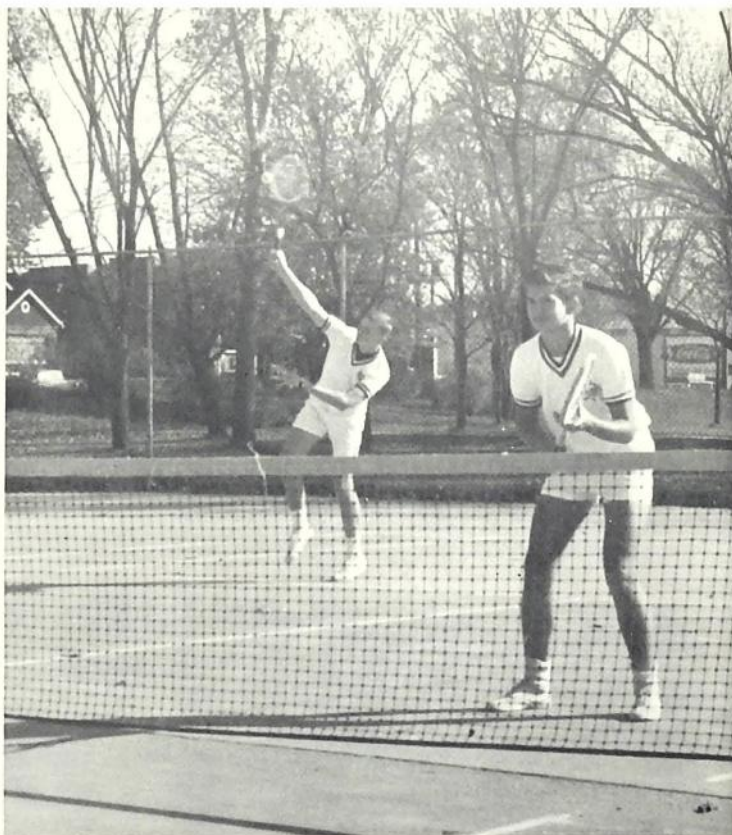

With warmer days and the decline of inclement weather, the boys bettered themselves for the coming meets by working out on the main field.

COACH EDDIE HERBERT keeps track of cinderman's improvement in broad jumping.

Hard-Fighting Netmen

Built around a core of hard-fighting sophomores, the tennis team gained valuable experience last fall. This promises to help them throughout the next season.

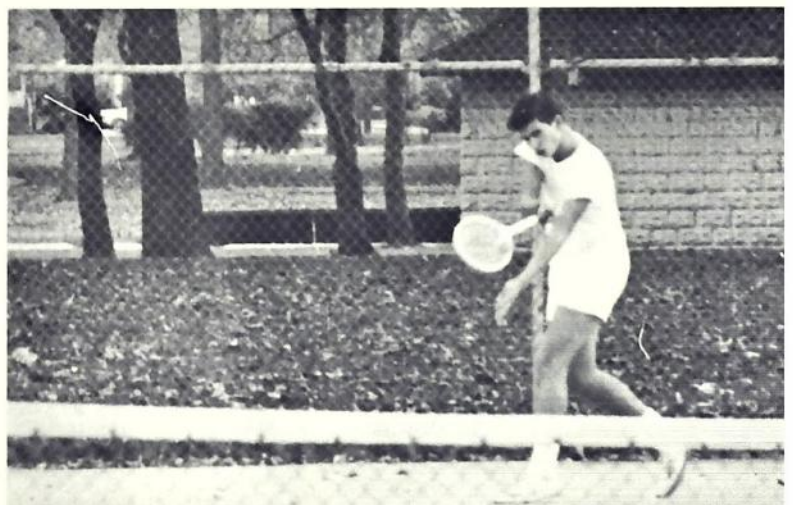

Gary Roosevelt was a little too strong for our netmen as we dropped two matches to them by a 3-2 margin. E. C. Roosevelt's Rough Riders also squeaked out a one point victory over us. Leigh Yarnold, a sophomore, was one of the backbones of the team as he won match after match to gain a position in the semi-finals of the conference singles tournament.

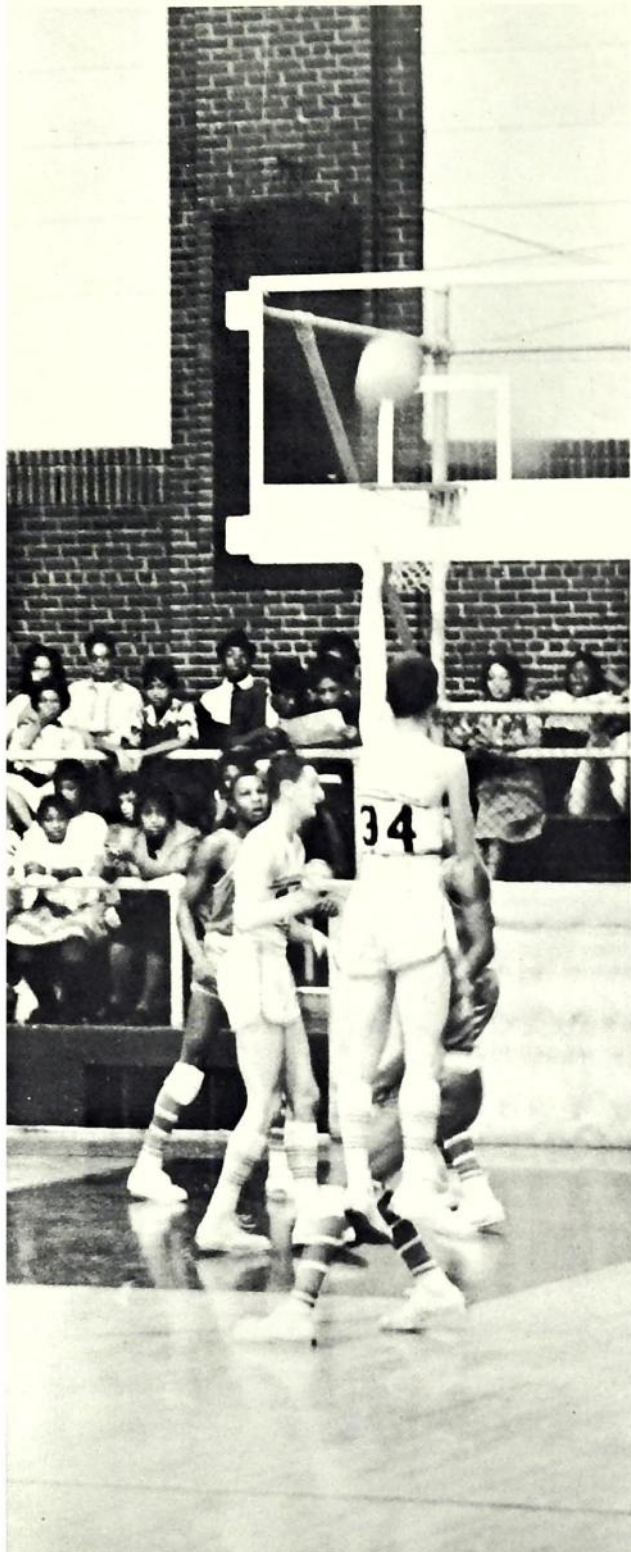

Seven returning lettermen will give the 1963 squad a boost as the netmen enter their third year as a varsity sport at Low Wallace. Coach Clarence Day is anticipating an improved record as a more experienced team takes to the courts next autumn.

Hoopsters Tally 63 Over Blue Devils

Seeking a winning combination all season, the Hornets came up with a squad that was unbeatable January 18. Sparked by the fresh memory of a one point defeat at the hands of the Blue Devils in the Holiday Tournament, the cagemen stuffed in 63 points to Froebel's 49 to beat them for the first time in 15 years. Bob Malinich, scoring from all sides of the court, led the Hornets as they refused the Froebelites an opportunity to lead. Although the season began with a losing streak, the boys provided Wallace fans with one of the most exciting upsets of the year.

WAITING ANXIOUSLY for the tip from the jump ball are Skip Lazzaro, Dan Sharp, and Tom Miller.

TOM THOMAS and John Shinovich wait to see the outcome of Larry Szabo's struggle for the ball.

Frosh and Reserve Learn by Playing

Although the reserve netmen lost more than half of their games, they have gained the skill and experience necessary for the coming season when they will combine with the varsity squad. Coach Richard Polk kept this in mind as he prepared his boys for this challenge.

The reservists played their best game against Mishawaka. With only a few seconds showing on the clock, the Cavemen scored a two-pointer to rally to a 51-49 win over our Hornets.

Every Saturday morning of the season the little-publicized freshman basketball games were played. The younger cagemen, taught fundamentals by Coach Clarence Day, worked hard to improve co-ordination and develop new plays.

The hoopsters shone brightly in their game against Edison when they chalked up a whopping 68-23 win.

AS HIS team mate reaches the end of the pool, Joe Stark dives in on the last leg of the relay race.

Chalking up 29 points in the City Meet, our mermen placed 3rd among the splashers of Gary.

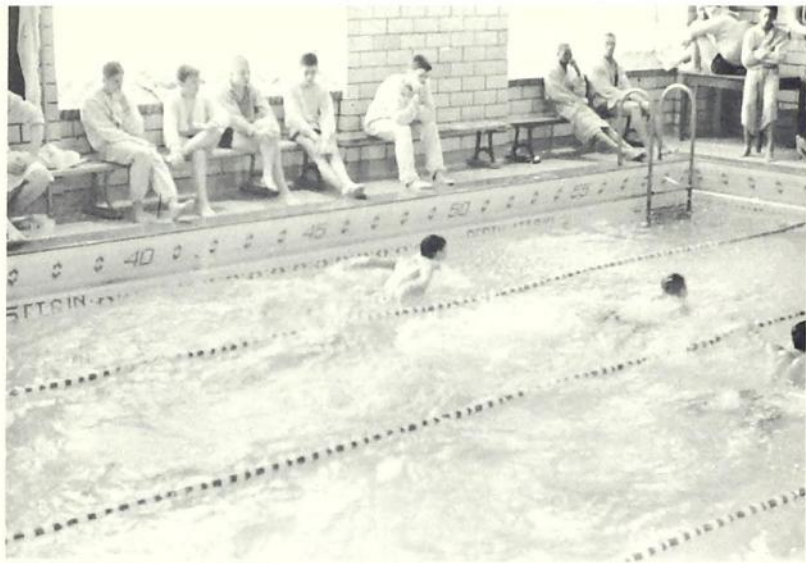

Copping first place honors were Jim Qualizza, a consistant winner, with a total of 265 in the diving division, and Ben Gatch captured the backstroke with a time of 1:13:0. The mermen also placed strong in the other events.

The splashers enjoyed an extended use of the pool for practice this season as they met at both 2:00 and 6:00 p.m. During the evening session, Coach Edward Troy trained his diving group. The boys also initiated the remodeled shower rooms.

Out for the squad this year was a large group of underclassmen who participated in the meets as exhibition swimmers. The experience gained by these boys and the strong list of returning lettermen promises to provide Wallace swimming fans with an exciting season in 1963-1964.

Second Season For Young Matmen

Moving into their second season as a varsity sport, the wrestling team practiced as if the Buddy Rogers' belt were in view. With many new underclassmen out for the team, Coach George Rykovich spent much time teaching the fundamentals and preparing the grapplers for their first match against East Gary Edison. Practice paid off as the matmen scored a smashing 42-17 victory over the East Gary squad.

With a large group of underclassmen gaining experience, Coach Rykovich has expressed high hopes for a better than .500 season for '63-'64.

Intramurals Offer Competitive Sports

NOTHING IS more fun than splashing in the pool as these intramuralites will tell you.

Six Stars Return For '63 Season

Capturing the city crown and bringing home Lew Wallace's first Eastern half of the W-NIHSC championship, the '62 baseball team played themselves to an outstanding record. Paced by the sensational fielding of Bob Malinich at 3rd base and Jerry Tarpo's .435 batting average, which won him the rank of 2nd in conference hitting, the squad tallied a 3-3 non-conference record, while defeating 8 of 11 conference opponents. As the representative of the Eastern sector, the boys met E.C. Roosevelt, Western victors, in a series of play-off games for the Conference crown. Despite the ace pitching of captain Dave Crawford, the Rough Riders scored 2-0 and 6-2 wins over our Hornets. High hopes of matching the '62 squad are part of this year's team. Back for the '63 season are Jerry Vedo, Fred Grubar, Bob Malinich, John Grube, John Hady, and Don Moke.

My hopes are high, my color's green. It's G A A that's on the beam.", was heard over and over again. The solemnness of initiation however, was felt during the candlelight reading of the G A A pledge.

In addition to competitive league bowling, ping-pong matches, and action-filled basketball games, the girls also sponsored a stag dance and a candy sale. Highlighting the winter months was the Christmas party with the Horace Mann G A A. After a hearty meal, the members joined in an old-fashioned song fest.

A Year
of Change.

Senior Class History

Fred Grubar,
president

As members of the Class of 1963 we often find ourselves looking back on our final year in high school. Electing class officers in September officially began the year's activities. Many of us participated in athletics, clubs, and other activities. Everyone kept busy trying to make this year the most exciting of our high school years.

Doing homework, filling out our college applications, and participating in our class play, "Bachelor Born", kept us busy. The Senior Reception on February 6, the fitting of caps and gowns, and the ordering of calling cards and invitations began our pre-graduation activities. The Senior Prom on May 24 made us realize that graduation was almost here. We watched our classmates accept awards

Louise Pattee,
secretary

and scholarships on Senior Activity Day. The Senior Luncheon, May 29, Baccalaureate, June 2, and Commencement, June 3, were the concluding activities for the Class of 1963.

As we leave our high school days behind us, we take the memories of four worthwhile years of education combined with many fun-filled times.

Junior Class History

The school year of 62-63 marked a milestone in the path of the Class of '64. As juniors we were no longer

"green freshies" or inbetween sophomores, but experienced and responsible upperclassmen.

We met many new academic challenges and participated in new realms of enjoyable experiences during the year in our sports and club activities.

In fulfilling the requirements of our academic work, we studied the problems faced by the Norwegians in Rolvaag's novel, Giants in the Earth, worked

Bill Davis,
vice president

diligently on our term topics, and completed many difficult assignments. Those who were enrolled in the chemistry and Algebra II classes found themselves immersed in a world of numbers and symbols.

The year of change brought an experimental academic class, the Advanced Placement History course, for those college bound students with above average ability.

The one social event looked to with the greatest anticipation was the Junior Prom. Many long and strenuous hours were spent on bake sales and paper drives which

David Timmons,
secretary

the class sponsored to raise the necessary funds for the affair.

With able leadership and added experience, we hope to make our senior year a successful and happy one for the Class of 1964.

Sophomore Class History

Terry Nicksic,
president

As sophomores, we have finally adjusted to the complexities of the high school routine.

The role of green freshmen that we had inherited the previous year was shed in favor of a more experienced and responsible one.

In our course of study, it was necessary to understand

Julius Caesar, write the histories of our lives, and trace the history of man from the Stone Age to the present day. To many of us, the strain of working out a geometric

secretary

proof and translating foreign languages presented a common problem.

When the time came to select our class rings, the tradition of the black onyx stone was changed because other choices were made available. In the area of extra-curricular activities, we were eligible to participate in more organizations. In the variety of sports offered, our capabilities improved with many hours of practice, and several of us had the opportunity of being on the varsity teams. Another highlight of the year, which we looked forward to with the greatest anticipation, was our class party in May.

Now, we are looking forward to becoming juniors and possessing the title of upperclassmen. We realize there still remains much hard work ahead, but there will be many times of fun and enjoyment.

Freshman Class History

KEN ORTOSKY,
president

Look as you may, you'll see no '66
"greenies" in our hallowed halls come next September. That bewildered look that immediately classified us in the eyes of the upperclassmen has gone. We have survived algebra, Ivanhoe, grasshoppers, and Latin I. We even had our names on the Honor Roll.

Our fondest memory is, of course, Freshman Week.
Dancing at the Sock Hop, dodging mercenary seniors, and enjoying the companionship of our "big sister" helped us adjust to high school life and

GEORGE GIKAS,
vice-president

BOB WARIEKA,
secretary

recognize the responsibilities and fun that lie ahead.

We elected our first class officers,
Ken Ortosky, president, George Gikas, vice-president,
Bob Warieka, secretary, and Cindy Brock, treasurer.

We entered the social whirl of high school students by attending stag and couple dances and cheering for our teams.

Crowning a year of fun and accomplishments

was the "Mardi Gras," our Freshman Class Party on February 22.

Near the end of the year many of us were honored on Freshman Activity Day. Awards were given for high achievements in math, English, biology, and foreign languages.

Club and attendance awards were also presented.

This year has been one of new experience, new ideas, and new challenges.
We look with anticipation on the coming years. We have fond memories of our freshman year that has so quickly gone by.

CINDY BROCK,
treasurer

The Greeks had a word for it. Heraclitus said, "There is nothing permanent except change."

The job of producing a yearbook is not easy, and too many people take for granted the book they receive each year. This year the staff worked approximately 2080 hours, used 21 reams of paper, and spent countless sleepless nights thinking of new ideas to make this Quill and Blade bigger and better than before.

In addition to the yearbook staff, there are also other people who deserve credit for their time and trouble. My appreciation goes to Mrs. Kathryn Welsh, journalism advisor, and Mr. George Strimbu, photography advisor, who patiently pointed out our errors and encouraged us in times of despair.

I would like to thank Mr. Norman Koenig and staff members of the Norman King Company, Mr. Dean McWhirter of Indiana School Pictures, Mr. Herb Lukmann of the Gary Post Tribune, Veach's Florist, Frank's Store for Men, the office staff, and the janitors for their help and cooperation.

And, last but not least, I extend my sincere appreciation to Mr. Donald T. Torreson, principal, for his understanding and aid in times of "crisis."

There are many who must go unheralded here, but not because of any lack of appreciation. There were teachers who allowed us to use their classrooms and facilities, students who interrupted their schedules to help on projects such as School Picture Day and Club Picture Day, and even those who just stopped in 214M to give an encouraging word or smile----all have an integral part in this publication, the 1963 Quill and Blade.
